MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

October 27, 28, 30, 31, November 1, 2.

THERE is no cause for alarm about the reaction on the stock market which has been taking place during the past week. When rates for call money become as high as 15 per cent. it would be an unwholesome sign unless a reaction did occur; and it is just such a set-back which affords a good opportunity for people who can afford it to buy stocks. It is said that certain conservative interests have been buying steadily but quietly on the decline; and the course of prices indicates the existence of such underlying support. It looks as if the next few weeks would afford many opportunities to pick up stocks at prices which will assuredly yield good profits some time during the winter. Nothing has happened to affect the prevailing conviction that business will continue excellent throughout the first half of 1906

INTEREST has been shifted during the past week from improved to unimproved real estate. The first of several important sales of Bronx property was held at the auction room, and was attended with considerable success. The prices for the parcels on Jerome av did not come up to anticipations; but those on the less important adjoining avenues and streets were all that could be expected and more. The sellers are said to have reaped a profit of about $75,000 in less than a year from their purchase—which indicates that the subsidence of actual speculation in Bronx vacant land has not been attended by any shrinkage of values. The great strength of Bronx real estate consists in the fact that it is to such a large extent bought and held by small local investors. In Manhattan operations in real estate have passed into the hands largely of professionals, and such operations require generally a very considerable amount of capital. But in the Bronx, particularly in the relatively unimproved sections thereof, every man with a little money takes an interest in real estate, and wants to reap his share of the profit which will result from the rapid growth of the borough. These are the people who buy freely and confidently at the auction sales; and many of them are in a very much better position to wait a number of years for their profits than are the professional operators in Manhattan. The way in which they flocked to the Bruner sale is an excellent augury for the success of the other sales which are to follow. Neither is it Bronx property alone which is becoming more active. There are signs of increasing life both on Washington Heights and in the Dyckman tract. It is only a month or two now before the subway trains will be running to Kingsbridge, and this event should be the signal for renewed speculation along the upper end of the route. There is, we believe, more room for a further advance of prices in that region than in any part of the city which has been opened for early improvement by the subway.

LAWYERS and real estate operators are naturally very much exercised over the wretched condition of business at the Register's office; but it should be clearly understood that the Register and his assistants are not responsible either for the delays attending the returns of papers or the failure to maintain the Block Index. As everyone familiar with real estate knows the conditions which have prevailed during the current year have been absolutely unprecedented, and have severely strained the resources of the machinery of every individual and company which has to handle legal papers representing real estate transactions. Since Jan. 1, 1905, some 29,855 deeds have been recorded at the county offices, against only 19,887 for the corresponding period in 1904, and during the same period the number of mortgages recorded increased from 17,439 to 26,804. There has been an enlargement consequently of almost 60 per cent. in the amount of work to be achieved in recording and indexing these papers, and the Register has not received from the Board of Estimate either as much room or as much money as he needs in order to handle this enormous increase of business promptly. One of the first and most necessary works confronting the new administration will be that of restoring the Register's office to the state of efficiency which characterized it during the early part of Mr. Ronner's term of office.

IT is impossible to tell just at present what the effect of the election will be upon the Mortgage Tax. The issue could not be raised decisively during a campaign which necessarily turned to so large an extent upon local questions. One result, however, is certain: all the Assemblymen elected from New York City, whether Democrats or Republicans, are pledged to work for the repeal of the tax; and if they stand together on this matter, and present their demands vigorously, they may well be able to secure the action for which they are pledged. But even if the tax is not repealed at the coming session of the Legislature, the fight will not be abandoned. The real test will come at the State election next fall, and, if necessary, at that election the "Allied Real Estate Interests" will spread its work throughout the entire State. The records of each succeeding week show even more conclusively that the tax is paid and will continue to be paid by the person who borrows the money, and that consequently it is a tax chiefly upon those owners of real estate who cannot afford to carry it without a mortgage. Such owners will, of course, seek to reimburse themselves, if possible, at the expense of their tenants; and in so far as they succeed the tax will be an actual benefit to the property-owners who can afford to carry their holdings without a mortgage. For they will reap in the benefit of a higher level of rentals, even if they have not the same motive for demanding such an increased return.

NOW that the Board of Aldermen has been carried by the Hearst-Republican combination, the threat is fully made that the Legislature will restore to that body the power to grant franchises. It is scarcely possible, however, that Governor Higgins would countenance such a flagrant misuse of legislative authority. The power to grant franchises was taken away from the Board of Aldermen and granted to the Board of Estimate, not because the Aldermen were Tammany men, but because they had abused the power they had possessed. They had made it the excuse for holding up many desirable franchises, and had shown unmistakably that their action was dictated not by the city's interest, but by subterranean political, personal, and possibly financial motives. The Aldermen represented their districts, their party and their local leaders, and they neglected again and again the best interests of the city. The Board of Estimate, on the other hand, is responsible either to the whole electorate of New York, or else to the electorate of one entire borough, and their action takes place in the open and is determined by public motives. To deprive them of the franchise-granting power would be a partisan act of the most inexcusable character, and it would bring the people who could perpetrate it into still worse repute in New York than that which they enjoy at present.

THE Record and Guide publishes herein a drawing of one of the facades of the new Chemical National Bank; and it will be seen from these drawings that the architects, Messrs. Trowbridge & Livingston, have prepared a design which adheres to the best prevailing tradition of bank architecture. The new Chemical National Bank will be a low building of Renaissance design, with a dome over the main banking office. The plot on which it is being erected faces 25 ft. on Broadway, and connects with a much larger plot, 70x100, on Chambers st. The main banking office, with its dome, will consequently be situated on the Chambers st lot, and will be entered both from Broadway and from the side street. The building will for the most part consist of a sub-basement, a basement and a main floor; but on the rear of the Broadway lot a 4-sty building will be erected, which will contain the directors' room, the officers and the clerks' dining-rooms, and the janitor's quarters. The materials employed will be of the most substantial character, and no expense will be spared to make the finish beautiful and appropriate. The exterior will, for instance, be constructed of Waldoboro granite, while the two columns enclosing the entrance will be made of Pavanazzo marble. Marble will also be used for the floor and counters in the interior. Altogether it is evident that the new home of the Chemical National Bank will be an appropriate and dignified building, and the directors of the bank are to be congratulated both upon their decision to build a house exclusively for the bank's own occupation and upon the way in which the architect has carried out their purpose.

The Municipal Election.

THE citizens of New York have every reason to be satisfied with the results of the election. The re-election of Mr. Jerome without the assistance of a formal nomination on the part of any one of the regular political machines was one of the best things that has ever happened in the political history of New York County. The re-election of Mayor McClellan (if he has been re-elected) is also a very desirable result, and it is made all the more desirable by his narrow escape from defeat. An overwhelming victory on his part would have been of very doubtful advantage to the city. It would have encouraged the Tammany leaders to believe that they could do what they want with their own, and might well have ended in the nomination of Mr. McClellan as the next Democratic candidate for Governor. As it is, their tenure of power is so precarious that they will have to be very much on their good behavior, and the Mayor himself cannot possibly under the circumstances desert his post. He will have to sit tight in his chair, and do everything he can to win the confidence and support of his constituents. Moreover, the results of the election clearly indicate that Mr. McClellan will not succeed in winning this support unless he becomes more rather than less independent in his manner of behavior. If he has been re-elected at all, he has been re-elected by Republican and independent votes, and he can only retain his following by showing, somewhat more unmistakably, that he represents the best interests of the whole city, and not the special interests of any one political organization. In other words, his position is such that he must give the clearest proof of emancipation from "Boss" rule. It is evident that hereafter New Yorkers, as little as their fellow-Americans all over the country, will not allow their officials to take orders, even in part, from unofficial political leaders, and that an alliance with such a leader will result in certain and disastrous unpopularity. What Mr. McClellan has to do, consequently, is to be more rather than less of his own master; and, if in the pursuit of such a policy, he has to break with some of his past associations and associates, he will be more the gainer than the loser by the rupture.

But the most striking thing about the results of the election is not the doubtful success of Mr. McClellan, but the doubtful defeat of Mr. Hearst. There are many people in the city who regard with grave forbodings the large vote which that gentleman polled; but for our own part we cannot help regarding that vote as an evidence of political vitality and strength on the part of the electorate of this city rather than as an evidence of political weakness and disintegration. Hitherto the reform movements in the city of New York have been altogether too negative, half-hearted and timid; and whatever its defects the platform on which Mr. Hearst stood was bold, positive, uncompromising and constructive. Mr. Hearst has done well to throw over the old meaningless programme of good government and come out squarely for a particular and a desirable kind of good government—for a sort of government which seeks the benefit of the whole people and puts its trust in them. No doubt in many of its details the Municipal Ownership platform was utterly impracticable, and no doubt Mr. Hearst in case he had been or is elected, could not have actually carried out a small fraction of the policy which he has been advocating. But the extravagance of many of his utterances and his failures to measure his promises by the necessary conditions of subsequent performance should not blind the conservative and well-to-do citizens of New York to the fact that his protest was fundamentally sound and his policy fundamentally correct. The basis of his protest is that the corruption in American municipal government depends upon the alliance between a corrupt machine and public corporations operating franchises within city limits, and the way to fight this alliance in the long run is to municipalize the services now performed by these corporations. This is not the program of an Anarchist or of an unscrupulous enemy of private property; and it is a program which will, we believe, eventually triumph in substance if not in the form which it receives in Mr. Hearst's platform.

The way to treat Mr. Hearst, consequently, is not to denounce him as an enemy of mankind, or as the instigator of Mr. McKinley's murder. Such attacks arouse merely a righteous indignation on the part of his supporters. The way to treat him is to recognize what is fundamentally correct in his protest and in his platform, and to take the wind out of his sails by doing all that legally can be done to emancipate our municipal government from subservience to the corporations and to their allies, the local and State bosses. Probably Mayor McClellan may believe that he has gone as far in this direction as he is justified in going; but such is not the case. The mayor has obviously been tied down both by his political affiliations and by his political ideas. He has done nothing, for instance, to strengthen the hands of the Rapid Transit Commission in its negotiations with the bidders for new subway privileges. What between the debt limit and the inability of the commission to build and operate subways on its own account, the commission will be badly handicapped in its negotiations with the transit corporations; and this handicap, although it has long been obvious, the Mayor has taken no steps to remove. He should begin to understand that what will help him and his party four years from now is not a cautious conservatism and a timid avoidance of difficulties until circumstances thrust them on him, but a radical, progressive and independent policy, which will depend on no boss, and which will peculiarly benefit no particular faction, but which will use the city government for the best advantage of the whole city.

What Real Estate Men Need.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I was glad to see the announcement made that the Record and Guide was about to undertake to supply the real estate men of this city with an adequate information service. Our firm has tried everything that is in the market at present, and the best information we obtained had the defects of inaccuracy, insufficiency, tardiness. I can easily see that the Record and Guide, with its records covering nearly forty years of operations, is really in a position to supply real estate men with every form of information they need. The Record and Guide Quarterly was a step in the right direction, and the use of it in our office has saved us at least one hundred asd fifty or two hundred dollars a year. The Quarterly, however, is only one link in the chain. I am glad to see that your new service is to be "complete." That's right! Supply the market with all it wants and have done with it. I was going to subscribe, as a half way measure, for some special information that our office needs from time to time. I shall wait now, however, and take your "complete" service. Old Subscriber.

Constitutionality of Mortgage Tax Sustained.

In denying an application made by Michael H. Eisman for the issuance of a writ of peremptory mandamus requiring Register Ronner to record a mortgage without the payment of the tax imposed by Chapter 729 of the laws of 1905, Justice Giegerich filed on Thursday an opinion sustaining the constitutionality of the law passed at the last session of the Legislature and commonly known as the Mortgage Tax Law.

He says in part: "Neither does this act deprive citizens of their property without due process of law. It is true that there is no provision or notice or opportunity to be heard concerning the tax on mortgages which are offered for record for the first time, nor is there any provision for ascertaining the actual value of the obligation of the mortgage.

"The relator argues that as the debtor upon the bond may be insolvent and the mortgage of less value than its face, and opportunity should be given of presenting such facts before the tax is levied but no tax law can be made perfect and Legislatures may well find that it is better to proceed on some fixed, although somewhat arbitrary system of appraisal than to introduce confusion and uncertainty and worse evils by having too much elasticity in the hope that the law can be more justly adapted to individual cases."

In answering the assertion that the act is in violation of Article X., Section 2 of the State Constitution and of the principle of home rule therein embodied, and that it withdraws from local assessors the right and power heretofore possessed and exercised by them of assessing tangible property. Justice Giegerich says:

"The only authority cited in support of this claim is People ex rel. Metropolitan Street Railway Company versus Tax Commissioner. It is not pointed out how anything said in that case sustains the assertion that there is an infraction of the section now in question, and I can discover no such infraction. Properly speaking, there is no discretion of assessing vested in any one by the act.

"Such power as there is, in the way of arriving at the amount on which the tax shall be paid, is not a power of assessing, in any correct sum, but of estimating and computing, which latter are the words of the statue. Moreover, whatever power there is in this respect is given to local officers, namely, the recording officers of the respective counties. My conclusion is that no unconstitutionality has been shown, and thus the motion should be denied."

The Labor Situation.

Preliminary to the first of January, when a number of working agreements in the building trades will terminate, negotiations, which in several instances are of special importance, are advancing toward the consummation of either a new treaty or the renewal of the existing one. In the case of the bricklayers, whose business is always important, seeing that theirs is the largest and most powerful body, the expectation is that the subject will be closed on Thursday of next week by a decision in favor of the present agreement in every essential particular save one.

The wage schedule will remain as it is, but Section Five, which refers to the installation of fireproof blocks, is likely to be eliminated altogether. This indeed will be the easiest way of expressing the intention of the parties in interest, which is to ignore the subject in the future, leaving the business of setting fireproof blocks to go where it will, to general contractors or to fireproofing companies, as the case may be.

Hitherto it has not been the privilege of the manufacturers of fireproof blocks to contract for installing them; instead this department of business has been entrusted only to contractors regularly in the bricklaying and mason trade, as bricklayers would not set the blocks for anybody but the brickbuilders. While this was true of the Metropolitan district it was not the plan in other cities, there being no objection on the part of bricklayers anywhere outside of New York to the manufacturers of fireproof blocks installing their own material in floors and partitions when so desiring. This concession is now made to the fireproofing companies, and particularly to the National Fireproofing Company, at the command of the International Union of Bricklayers and Masons, to which the metropolitan locals attest allegiance. Two years ago an order came from the national headquarters directing that in the future no distinction be made between fireproofing manufacturers and general contractors in this respect, but until now the New York Unions have refused to obey.

After the first of January, then, competition for the work of setting fireproofing will be ostensibly an open field, but as the fireproofing companies control the material they are very likely to control the setting to a very large degree. Bricklayers will set blocks for anybody asking them, provided the employer is one with whom they have a trade agreement; but the expectation and probability is that in a few years the setting of the blocks will become a specialized calling, the members of which will be exclusively employed by the National Fireproofing Company and its competitors. Among the probabilities also is more competition for fireproofing work than is encountered by practitioners now, and the uprising of new fireproofing systems. A prominent bricklayer expressed the sentiments of the unions to the Record and Guide by saying, "We have been forced to do this against our will by the International Union. I think it is a mistake both for the Union and for the National Fireproofing Company. Heretofore the bricklayers have stood in the position of recommending and favoring terra cotta blocks for fireproofing, but while for a time our trade will continue to do this work, after a few years the National Company, which controls the business, will no doubt have its own special men, and bricklayers at large will be no more interested in that system of fireproofing than in any other."

It is understood that as a considerable number of employing plasterers outside of the Townsend building have agreed to the demand of the operatives for a wage of six dollars a day after the first of January, independent bosses as a whole will concede it. The associated employers have not yet had the subject officially presented, but in advance of the consideration which they may be asked to give, it is generally remarked that it will require the exercise of much diplomacy to deny this request, inasmuch as journeymen are in such demand and so many independent employers are willing to pay whatever is asked.

Carpenters and joiners, who are also in great demand, expect to have a new understanding with their employers, to date from the New Year, under the terms of which they will receive an increase of fifty cents a day. Until this present season this esteemed and important trade has been pretty well cut up, and the unions have had their trials and discouragements, but so great has been the amount of work offering since the early spring that it has often been hard to get carpenters. In times past when work has been really plentiful in the Greater City, there has been a scarcity in the surrounding towns and cities, causing workmen to turn this way in large numbers and spoil the market. But now carpenters are well employed in every town, as well as in New York; and whenever there was any probability of getting any from here Secretary Featherstone has had requests to send men out.

It is not believed among builders that the strike of the housesmiths will continue very long, as it is a far-fetched issue at best, in which the metropolitan craftsmen have little interest and less sympathy. For the moment, however, it is an annoyance, and particularly so because of the trivial cause and foreign origin. Somewhere out in Pennsylvania the American Bridge Company is alleged to have employed some non-union helpers, and this has been made the cause of a strike out there against that company, and also the pretext for a strike of the ironworkers in the employ of Post & McCord here in New York. Why New York City and Post & McCord have been drawn in is not clear, but the firm finds its work obstructed on some fifty buildings, large and small. Just how many men have quit Mr. Post could not tell. He said the matter had been taken up for his firm by the Building Trades Employers' Association, of which his partner, Mr. McCord, is President, and will be settled by the Association. Mr. McCord has for some weeks been in Mexico. The work of no other contracting firm has been interfered with.

No doubt rests in anyone's mind of the ability of the Employers' Association to compel a peace, but there is a disinclination to take extreme measures at the outset. An effective course would be to lock the striking unions out and organize new ones, to be independent of the International body; for it is the International organization which has ordered out the local unions, they in turn considering their allegiance to the Internatioal body paramount to the duty they owed to the General Arbitration Agreement in the New York building trades, which bears their official signature. Between this International Union and the Building Trades Employers' Association there is no convention, and the former's President, Mr. Ryan, sees no impropriety in calling upon the subordinate unions in this city to break a solemn agreement. In a previous case the General Arbitration Board decided that there was no connection between the firm of Post & McCord and the American Bridge Co. It is only too apparent that a feeling of animosity to arbitration still survives in Sam Parks's old union. President Ryan says the American Bridge Company can settle the trouble in five minutes by discharging non-union men at McKeesport.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Fireproof Wood and the Underwriters.

After careful investigation, the New York Fire Underwriters are and have been for some time convinced that so-called "fireproofed" wood, as used in this city, is of no value as a fire deterrent. At one time we made an allowance in computing our rates for its presence in a building, but months ago we became convinced that it was of no value and we unanimously voted to rescind the allowance.

So much for the material from the underwriters' standpoint. As citizens having knowledge of the subject, we believe that to require by law the use of fireproofed wood is a mistake, because it adds to the expense and delay in building, without improving the structure in any way.

If the material had had any real merit it would have won its own way, not requiring a law to force its use.

HENRY EVANS, Chairman.

BUILDING NOTES

Thanksgiving will be heartily celebrated this year.

To the housesmiths: Get in the game.

Sewer pipe manufacturers report a record breaking season.

The bricklayers will not ask for higher wages, but the plasterers and carpenters will.

The contractors who keep in touch with their trade paper somehow happen to be the men who bid successfully.

The Union Lumber Co., of Bakersfield, California, desire manufacturers' catalogues and samples of building materials and furnishings.

It is reported that the Newark Lime & Cement Co. (Rosendale) cement mill at Ponckhockie, on Rondout Creek, which has been closed, will resume operations soon.

Linseed oil, which has been extremely high all the season, has declined rapidly in value of late. October deliveries on contract orders brought considerable Oil into the market.

No living man can say for certain how much pig iron will be melted during the next eight or ten months; neither can any one say what the range of prices will be, although 2,000,000 tons per month would probably hold quotations within 50c. to $1 per ton of to-day's figures.

At the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on Friday, Nov. 3d, the sum of $1,800,000 was voted to the Park funds, to be divided among the various boroughs. The improvements authorized at the meeting involved a total of $409,000, divided as follows: Brooklyn, $275,400; Manhattan, $107,800; Bronx, $25,800.

The Rheinfrank House Wrecking Co., 620 East 14th st, has secured the demolition of the Eastern Distillery Co.'s buildings at Blissville, L. I. This is one of the largest contracts that has been let in many years. This building contains a large amount of brick and I-beams, which are in first-class condition. Rheinfrank has five hundred men working on the job. The business formerly conducted in these large works has been moved to Peekskill.

The Bicklehaupt Automatic Scuttle Opener is simple, but to our mind a very valuable device. By its use one can open a scuttle, lock it, or fix it in any position by a very simple movement of the hand. It is an especially good provision in case of fire. In this crowded city, where danger from fire is always to be dreaded, no safeguard is to be neglected, and Bicklehaupt's Scuttle Opener is so simple, so sure and so necessary in its operation that once inspected its high value will be immediately confirmed. The manufactureer is G. Bicklehaupt, 243 West 47th Street, New York City.

The National Theatre Project.

CENTRAL PARK, WEST—It was announced at the office of Henry Morgenthau, 20 Nassau st, this week with reference to the National Theatre, which it is proposed to erect on the Central Park West block between 62d and 63d sts, that no architect has been commissioned, and that the project is now before a committee to secure the necessary subscriptions with which to erect such a building. Nothing further can be announced on the subject, except that a play house of this character is contemplated. It can be stated, for the information of contractors, that as all the necessary capital has not yet been subscribed the success of the enterprise is still problematical.

A Complete Real Estate Information Service

THE RECORD AND GUIDE is completing arrangements for a Complete Real Estate Information Service, which will cover every item of real estate news required for real estate transactions of any kind. The requirements of Brokers, Auctioneers, Owners, and others have been very carefully investigated, and the leading members of the real estate profession are unanimous in their opinion as to the need that exists for a really complete, prompt and accurate service.

The RECORD AND GUIDE will be glad to receive suggestions as to requirements from any of its readers.

The purpose of the contemplated service is entirely professional, and is aimed to assist the working of Brokers' offices, perfect existing methods and reduce operating expenses.

If the information required affects real estate, the RECORD AND GUIDE hereafter by its new service will supply it.

Further details of plan and scope will be announced shortly.

& Robbins, Sellman & Co., John Campbell & Co. and the American Leather Co.

Charles F. Noyes Co. has leased for Charles Laue to the United Merchants Realty & Improvement Co., the building 681 Broadway, southwest corner 3d st, for a period of 21 years from May 1st next. The lease is made on a net rental basis to Mr. Laue, the tenant paying taxes, insurance, making all repairs. In addition to these fixed charges, the aggregate rental amounts to about $250,000. It is stated that the lessees will make extensive alterations to the buildings.

Horace S. Ely & Co. have leased for Dr. Austin Flint to Emanuel M. Gattle the 5-sty building 418 5th av, 18x83, adjoining the southwest corner of 38th st. The corner building, 20x108, with an "L" at the rear, is a store and apartment structure, known as the Carlyle Chambers, also controlled by Mr. Gattle under lease from Mr. Charlotte Weatherley. Upon the expiration of prior leases on 418, the entire plot, 38x108, will probably be improved by Mr. Gattle. His lease on Dr. Flint's property covers a long term of years, with privilege of renewal, at an annual net rental of about $12,000.

The Title Clearance Company of New York, recently organized as a company whose object should interest every holder and dealer in real estate. In his extensive practice as a real estate lawyer, Mr. Gustav Goodmann, the company's counsel, saw the necessity of a corporation of this kind. Its object is to make titles which are questioned or declared unmarketable or which the title insuarnce companies refuse to insure, marketable and insurable. He says that often a slight defect which could be easily remedied has been the cause of rejection and the reason for much trouble and litgation with its usual expense. The concern of which he is the head will attempt to remedy these defects and make a title marketable if possible, but will make no charge to its clients unless it is successful in doing so. The company has not as yet opened its downtown office and its present address is No. 1515 First av, Borough of Manhattan, New York City. Its advertisement appears on aother page.

Using Safety Tread.

The Empire Safety Tread Company, 299 Pacific st, Brooklyn, report business very good. They are furnishing their Patent Carborundum Safety Step-Tread in the buildings of the College of the City of New York, 138th st and Amsterdam av, which will require about ten thousand square ft of tread; also to the new Altman Building, 34th-35th sts and 5th av, and all the Brooklyn Bridge terminal. They also equipped the Northwestern Elevated Railroad of Chicago, requiring several tons of tread.

National Sculpture Society's Prizes.

The National Sculpture Society, 215 West 57th st, reports that in the prize competition (bust and relief) about 40 busts and 30 reliefs were submitted. The jury awarded the J. Q. A. Ward prize of $500 to Charles Grafly for a portrait bust of a man, Miss Evelyn E. Longman and Atillio Picirrilli receiving honorable mention. It was decided by the jury that none of the reliefs submitted showed sufficient excellence to justify the award of the prize offered by I. W. Drummond. The jury recommended Miss Janet Scudder, Albert Jaegers, James E. Fraser, Miss Clara Pfeiffer Garrett, John Flanagan, and J. E. Reiner for honorable mention.

Personal Mention.

Philip Corbin, president of the American Hardware Corporation, New Britain, Conn., was 81 years old on the 26th ult. He received a number of congratulations on his anniversary, which was spent quietly and without celebration of any kind. Mr. Corbin enjoys excellent health and every day finds him at the offices of the great company of which he is the head looking after the direction of his vast business.

John Ostergren, a well-to-do Brooklyn architect, aged 46 years, was found unconscious from escaping gas and died soon after at his home, on Saturday last.

Confidence Deeply Rooted.

MR. HOWARD C. PYLE ON THE BROOKLYN REAL ESTATE OUTLOOK.

With the close of the remarkable business year not very far away, Brooklyn real estate continues its activity in every department, with little or no abatement except in the renting branch, and there because of the exhaustion of the supply. Mr. Howard C. Pyle, speaking this week to a representative of the Record and Guide, said:

"The general outlook for real estate in Brooklyn never was better than it is to-day. The renting market this fall has been way ahead of anything ever before experienced; there is scarcely a vacant house in the Heights, Downtown and Hill sections. Never in my experience has it been so difficult to supply the demand for moderate rentals, say up to $800 or $900.

"The demand for apartments has been equally good, and although the fall rental market is practically over, we are still having numerous calls for houses and apartments which we cannot supply. This scarcity exists in nearly all parts of Brooklyn, and the problem of how and where to house all the home seekers who are coming so rapidly to Brooklyn is becoming more serious every day.

"In my judgment, the field for investment in modern priced dwellings and apartments in Brooklyn to-day is practically unlimited. There has been a steady and healthy increase in rents for several months, and I think it a very conservative estimate of an average advance of 10 per cent. on what it was two years ago, and in many cases much more. This surely has a very beneficial effect on realty values, for there has been a steady increase in values of more than an average of 10 per cent. in the same time.

"Confidence in Brooklyn realty never was so permanently rooted as it is at present. More ready money is being actually made than the most optimistic mind could ever realize, and I am confident that it has only just commenced. The stability of the good movement to my mind lies in the fact that it is general all over the Borough and in Queens County as well. Capitalists are waking up to the fact every day that there is as great and much safer profit in Kings and Queens county real estate as in Wall street. There are many reasons for this, principally the improvements in transit facilities which are rapidly approaching completion, and when they do, the tide of influx to Brooklyn will surprise everyone. The field for investment and speculation in Brooklyn to-day offers safer and better inducements than any other locality in the country."

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Baragain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 ndicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

November 3, 4, 6, 8 and 9.

Jerome av bisects the Dickinson tract, which has frontages on both sides of the avenue of 961 ft and 1,030 ft., respectively. The Gun Hll road bounds the property on the north, giving it a frontage of 1,200 ft. on the main cross street of the section. On the east the tract is bounded by the Trull estate, and the dimension is about 1,000 ft. AT present it seems improbable that the Stock Market will cross the next few weeks without suffering from a sharper decline than any which has yet taken place. It is behaving as if stubborn conflicting influences were at work and that the need of conservatism was not sufficiently recognized by the majority of bullish operators. Moreover, the continuation of the existing troubles in Russia, and the temporary disintegration of that Empire might well cause a European financial panic, which would have a severe reaction upon the price of American securities. With such a danger hanging over the market, caution is doubly necessary. We do not believe, indeed, that any but a temporary decline need be feared, because the structure of prices is not really vulnerable, except in the cases of some specialties which have been advanced by manipulation. For the most part prices are lower than they were last August, and there are not many commission accounts which would be caught by a sharp decline. Consequently, in spite of the Russian peril, stocks ought to be a good purchase, in case the general monetary situation causes a sudden break.

A SALE in the business part of 5th ave during the past week at a fairly high price calls attention to the fact that such sales have been exceedingly rare of late. Until the present fall real estate on 5th ave from 26th to 48th sts had been continually active and advancing in price for about five years. Every year brought with it new buildings, bigger rents and higher values; and during the season of 1903-1904, which was not particularly prosperous in any other respect, the activity of 5th ave business property did not flag. Of late, however, a certain change has taken place. No new retail firms of any importance have followed Mr. Altman's example, and purchased sites upon 5th ave. While there are no indications that prices are weakening or that they will weaken, it is unquestionably true that a pause has taken place in the business development of the avenue and of the adjacent side streets. One hears of few speculative purchases in the neighborhood, and no announcement of new building plans. Such a moderation of the pace is, no doubt, wholesome; and it is likely to last for some time. It will take even New York a few years to grow up to the existing level of values on the avenue. In the meantime, of course, real estate will not be entirely dead; but for the present prices can hardly become much higher; and there will continue to be a tendency for 5th ave business men to find accommodations on the adjacent side streets. The vacancies created in this way will supply the demand for additional business space on the avenue during the next few years.

WHETHER or not the owner of the Martinique will succeed in purchasing the property on 33d st, adjacent to that hotel, it is not denied that he is trying to do so; and this fact raises the question as to the prospects for new hotel construction in Manhattan during the coming year. There are some indications that this year may bring forth a moderate revival in the building of apartment hotels. For three years now very few of them have been erected, and it is entirely possible that this marked abstention will justify during 1906 a comparatively liberal supply of such buildings. Probably, however, when the building of apartment hotels is resumed, they will be erected for the most part on larger plots than was customary in 1901 and 1902. The reason why so many of the hotels of that period failed as business ventures was that they were not either large enough or well-enough planned and built to be run economically. Size is a most important element in the profitable operation of all hotels; and it is particularly so in a place like New York. Moreover, this is all the more the case in view of the changes of policy, which have been forced upon the managers of these hotels. In the beginning they rented their rooms for the most part by the year and unfurnished; but little by little they have been forced to furnish their rooms and fill them with transient guests. The apartment hotel is being assimilated, that is to the ordinary hotel, except that its customers are more likely to remain for a week than for a day; and it has to cater for transients in a way that was formerly quite unnecessary. The prosperity of the best of the family hotels, run in this way, indicates that there is room for more of this kind of living accommodation.

IT cannot be claimed that the action of the voters all over the Union upon proposed constitutional changes has served to increase the confidence of an intelligent man in the principle of the referendum. In all instances the vote upon the constitutional changes submitted to popular approval, and all questions offered for popular decision was extremely light. It rarely amounted to as much as half the number of votes cast for candidates for local offices; and in some cases desirable constitutional changes failed of approval, because of the lack of popular interest which they created. In the State of New York the several constitutional amendments proposed were all approved; but it would be ridiculous to assert that this approval meant an intelligent understanding of the questions involved by the people who voted for them. With two exceptions the amendments were quite unintelligible, except to a person possessing very special information; and the voters who passed them by can hardly be blamed for so doing. The newspapers made attempts to explain the issues involved to their readers; but it is safe to say that only extremely conscientious voters paid any attention to this editorial explanation and advice. More than half of them were really special and technical questions, which were meaningless and uninteresting except to a few people. It is a mere farce to ask such questions of thousands of indifferent voters; and it is very unfortunate that they have to be asked. Furthermore, even when the question submitted is of general interest and can be easily understood, such as the amendment authorizing the expenditure of $50,000,000 on State roads, it is difficult to arouse much interest in them during the excitement of a regular campaign. The abstract question is submerged under the vivid interest excited by the personal appeals of the several candidates. It is a fair inference from the experience of the past election that wherever possible, only broad and easily intelligible questions should be referred to popular vote, and that such votes should be held at a time some months removed from the first week in November.

THE authorization by popular vote of the spending of $50,000,000 by the State of New York upon good roads will eventually have its effect upon the State system of taxation. As long as the Republicans insist upon collecting all the State revenues from special sources, they are obliged to accept the responsibility of discovering additional sources of taxation, whenever they have to raise additional revenue. Even with the additions of the Stock Transfer and the Mortgage taxes the State income is barely equal to its outgo; and money will have to be raised by other means to pay the interest on the bonds issued to pay for the canal and better roads. Inasmuch as it will be difficult to find other sources of revenue, the necessity of inventing them may well lead to a re-adjustment of the whole system of State taxation. Indeed, tax-reformers should work at the present time for the appointment of a commission, whose duty it would be seriously to consider the existing State revenues and taxes, its probable needs in the near future and the way in which these needs can be satisfied most equitably and economically. What is wanted in this State is above all, a constant discussion and criticism of our system of taxation; and every means should be taken to arouse such discussion and keep it alive.

Comparatively little of the money that supports the present-day activity in real estate buying is said to be coming from the banks and trust companies, a fact which has yet been scarcely noticed. Rather is the most of the enormous total of funds being invested the capital of professional operators and the savings of the frugal that are buying for a home or a rise.

Real Estate and Trust Companies.

THE enormous development of the Trust companies in the United States during the past thirty years is as startling as it is impressive. In 1875 there were 35 companies with total resources of $122,000,000. In the present year there are 1,115 companies with liabilities and corresponding resources amounting to $3,802,000,000. Rhode Island with 9, has the fewest companies while Pennsylvania has the most, 237 with $621,000,000 resources, though New York's 78 companies have a total of resources of $1,510,000,000. New Jersey has 60, Illinois 49, Ohio 47, Massachusetts 42, and Missouri 27, the resources of Illinois's 49 being $353,000,000 as against the $220,000,000 of New Jersey's 60 companies.

The phenomenal growth of Trust companies and the demand for their fiduciary services are caused by business conditions creating a necessity for new facilities in banking which ordinary institutions did not afford, owing to the limitations of charters and otherwise conventional methods.

But while the Trust company is causing great changes in American banking, it cannot be said that there has been any radical departure from the sound principles on which banking is based. As has been well said, "The banks sell credits; the trust companies sell services." These facilities and services are as truly merchandise commodities as are corn, coal or dry goods and the Trust company is on the same plane as the merchant in his warehouse.

The figures given above, marvellous as they are, do not indicate in the smallest degree that there has been any decline of confidence in the management of National banks, growth of the trust company as pointed out, being a natural outcome of a demand caused by business and economic conditions. This is an age of great industrial combinations as well as of specialists. Industry is being specialized to the highest degree. Departments have been combined in such a way as to give to each the strength of the entire aggregation.

First to realize that the expanding character of business necessitate monetary institutions that combine, under one roof, many departments, under expert and specialized management, the Trust company offers to its customers a banking department, a trust department and others, all of which it conducts in an equally efficient manner.

Comparatively few of these companies have made a specialty of Real Estate which offers boundless possibilities for an increase of business. Real estate from time immemorial has to a large extent been the foundation of all values. Very few transactions of magnitude are negotiated without real estate being an important factor. In the management of estates for widows and orphans it frequently happens that the largest portion of such estate consists of realty. Then it is that the real estate department with its well-equipped staff is of inestimable value to the Trust company, as it thus avoids the necessity of seeking outside assistance in the management of real property belonging to such an estate. There is no division of a Trust company that will not be benefited by a careful organizing of a real estate branch. The financial department of the Trust company profits especially. When money is easy and there is a surplus of cash in the department the real estate department can be called on to procure for it investments in the form of real estate loans. Numbers of depositors can likewise be secured through the real estate department owing to the cash or notes in settlement passing through the Trust company's hands.

In many instances the seller is extremely likely to open an account with the company with the proceeds of the transaction and thus new customers are readily made.

In short, a real estate department is now absolutely indispensable to every Trust company. Investment in realty is sought for by many who have made money in other channels, who desire to safeguard their funds in a way that they know to be substantial and is likely to net them a good return.

A real estate department, it will thus be seen, is not only highly advantageous to its other departments but is in itself highly profitable.

—No credence need be given to the statements that there is the likelihood of large importations of British structural steel during the coming year, inasmuch as the iron and steel masters of England, Scotland and Germany are sold up to the limits of their productive capacity for at least a year. Not only is the market for structural steel advancing in Europe, but the buyers for Australian, East India and South Africa account report in London, Glasgow and Germany that they find it difficult to get their orders filled. A San Francisco firm which lately made a large importation of German pig iron, solicited some orders for German structural steel, only to find on booking the orders that their German correspondents reported that a sudden rise in the market prevented them from filling orders except at prices which netted two per centum higher than the American market on the Pacific Coast. There has recently been formed in London a "community of interest" syndicate that has taken in most of the large makers of structural steel in Great Britain, Belgium, France and Germany, with the prospect that foreign prices will be largely advanced, and thereby making Great Britain for a time a larger customer for American structural steel manufactures than she has been for some time.

Points in Fire Insurance

By R. O. HAUBOLD*

Not long ago I was asked the question by a friend of mine: "Haubold, which do you consider the more advisable from the assured's point of view, the eighty per cent or the 100% clause? I answered his question by asking him another. "If an insurance company can afford to give you a cheaper rate because of the 100% clause, would it not stand to reason that it was more profitable to the company than to the assured?" An eighty per cent clause on a $10,000 risk requires an $8,000 policy and a 100% clause requires a $10,000 policy; consequently, while you are reducing your rate ten per cent you are increasing your insurance twenty-five per cent and the net result is that your protection is actually costing you twelve and one-half per cent more than with the eighty per cent clause. Of course you have additional protection if you comply with the conditions of the contract, but at a considerable increase of expense. So few owners of insurable property, be it building or contents, understand this clause that it is the duty of all brokers to become thoroughly familiar with this matter, so that they can explain the same to their clients.

Upon building insurance it can very often be arranged that foundations below the level of the ground are excluded from the form of policy and the consequent reduction in valuation will offset the required increase of insured amount and the 100% clause can be applied; but on contents it is a dangerous clause because of the fluctuation of values and of the amount of stock on hand. The 100% clause may be a good thing for the broker in securing business as long as there is no fire, but when there is a loss it is a bad thing for the assured, and, naturally, an assured who has had occasion to find this out will not again employ a broker who has taken advantage of the situation and he certainly will not recommend him to any one else.

Small things must be taken advantage of by an insurance broker. One of these may be this. The rates of insurance are almost invariably lower on buildings than on contents and it is advisable to include in the valuation of the building all permanent improvements including stationary machinery thus reducing the valuation of contents and a consequent reduction in the total cost of insurance.

In insuring contents of manufacturing establishments be very careful to see that patterns, moulds and designs are mentioned in your form, or they will not be covered; and if so mentioned only ten per cent of the amount of the item in which they are included can be applied to this clause, unless a considerable increase of rate upon the entire item be paid. In this connection I might call your attention to the fact that in very many cases the valuation of the patterns, moulds and designs far exceed the amount that can be applied in this manner. In such cases I have found it advisable to invariably eliminate the words from the regular item and cover them under a specific item, which will better protect your assured and at the same time avoid the necessity of paying a higher rate.

In accepting an order for insurance which is to take effect immediately, it is advisable to do so with the proviso that you will cover it at the earliest possible moment, as your failure to procure the insurance without advising your client to that effect might very easily render you personally liable for any damage resulting from your failure to do so. In insuring household furniture it is a wise precaution to have your form read to cover on the property of the assured or any member of his or her family as the property of any of the adult children would not otherwise be insured and it is the usual intention in placing policies of this nature to include all the property of the entire family.

In addition to the usual class of fire insurance which is on specific or tangible property a broker can considerably increase his source of income by convincing his client or prospective clients of the desirability of insuring profits or prospective profits. Whenever a monetary loss would be sustained as the result of a fire, it is fair to assume that an insurable interest exists. For instance, a direct loss of rentals as a result of fire is certainly an insurable interest, and no owner should be without this class of insurance, and no broker should fail to suggest it to his client. When property is held on lease the profits accruing from said lease are insurable and should be protected. When business is conducted at a profit and a fire would prevent a realization of that profit the possible loss should be protected. This latter is called "use and occupancy" insurance, and it specifically agrees to pay to the assured a certain sum per day for the length of time the business does not produce that profit or all of it, as a result of fire.

A broker should, of course, keep accurate books of account as to receipts and payments, but to my mind the most important record is that of expirations, as very few people have even the slightest idea of when their policies expire and depend entirely upon their broker. In this way it might prove very embarrassing for a broker should he fail to renew a policy for a client or neglect to notify him in the case of his inability to do so. This record can very easily be arranged alphabetically by means of the card system, and in that way enable a broker to at all times tell what policies he has issued or caused to be issued for any one individual client.

In the hunt for new business there is always in each assured, a vulnerable point of attack, namely, his pocketbook. The Exchange has fixed absolute rates in all cases either by means of a general minimum but more frequently by a specific rate. In this latter case the rates are arrived at in a fixed manner under what is called a schedule. Starting with what is known as a base rate, charges are added for deficiencies of construction and faults of management and deduction from that result made for fire appliances and exceptional construction. The result is a decidedly complicated mass of figures, and for a broker who is not thoroughly experienced in this direction it is almost impossible for him to accurately suggest the best means of avoiding charges and making corrections tending to the reduction of a rate.

We have in our employ two men whose sole duty it is to disintegrate schedules, to inspect risks and make suggestions of improvements with a view toward a reduced cost of insurance. This you will readily see is a very expensive plant, as men of technical knowledge are required, and a broker who does only a moderate business could hardly afford to maintain such a force of employees. It has become the custom therefore for these smaller brokers to associate themselves with an office possessing these opportunities and taking advantage of them in that manner. In most cases where a reduction of rate is possible that fact is patent upon even a cursory inspection, for certain faults of construction and management are very common, indeed. Some of which are: The absence of fire buckets or extinguishers or their lack of proper arrangement. For a correction of this fault a reduction of 5% to 10% is usually obtainable.

The proper construction of skylights is an important matter as a charge of 10 to 25 cents is made by the exchange when these are not up to the standard. Unsafe heating apparatus can usually be corrected at a very slight cost. In most cases it is generally a question of a proper protection and connection of gas stoves, and a charge of from 10 to 25 cents can be removed in this way. The proper construction of bins for packing materials is an important feature, and a charge of 10 to 25 cents made if they do not come up to the standard. These are all minor improvements and can be arranged for by a broker with very little experience, but there are a large number of other matters which require a technical knowledge of the rules of the exchange and not infrequently has the exchange made errors in the computation of rates which errors would not ordinarily be discovered except by a man of experience in these matters, and for that reason I make to you the suggestion of consultation with offices properly equipped for this purpose. It is only within the past couple of weeks that by these means I was enabled to interview the owners and occupants of one of our big hotels and suggest to them slight changes which, with an expenditure of some $200, saved them in the cost of their insurance $600 for the first year and $1,500 in the course of three years, the term for which their policies are issued. In another case I was fortunate enough, through the help of one of my experts, to suggest improvements to a corporation doing a large business here in New York and whose premiums amounted to $15,000 a year, whereby the expenditure of $500 their premiums were reduced to $6,000 per annum, thus saving $9,000 expense in one year. These things certainly appeal to the assured and if carefully watched result in the accumulation of a large and remunerative brokerage business.

How the Mortgage Tax Works Out.

Up the State the public sentiment for the repeal of the Mortgage Tax Law grows steadily, as is manifested in leading journals. We note that the influential Rochester Post-Express and the Newburgh Register have among others taken a decided stand on the question, saying that the law ought to be repealed as soon as possible after the meeting of the new Legislature. When the mortgage tax bill was pending in the Legislature a Rochester firm desired to borrow a very large amount of money for the purchase of real estate and the erection of a large factory, giving employment to a thousand people. The company applied to the banks and found that it could get all the money it wanted. "Yes, but at what rate?" "Well," said the bankers, "the rate now is 5 per cent, but if the mortgage tax bill goes through it will be 5½." "But," said the borrower, "the mortgage tax bill provides that the lender shall pay the tax." "Yes," said the banker, "and of course we shall pay it, but we shall have to take it out of you by increasing the rate of interest." This shows how the tax works. Ostensibly a tax on capital, it is really a tax on the borrower—in other words, a tax on thrift and enterprise. With regard to the savings banks the situation is just as plain. If they are to pay the tax without raising the rate of interest, they must decrease the rate which they pay to depositors. If they decide not to decrease the returns to their depositors, they will have to charge more to the borrowers.

"The mortgage tax bears very heavily upon the man of moderate means," avers the Post-Express. "Let us say that he wants a home for his family, and buys a plot of ground and erects a building with borrowed money. The property is assessed at $5,000 and he has to pay city, State and county taxes on that amount. But it is mortgaged for $3,000, and he has to pay an annual tax of ½ per cent. on that mortgage by submitting to an increased rate of interest. The frugal, saving, thrifty man, therefore, who is struggling to get a home for his family, pays taxes on $8,000 worth of property. But how much is he worth? Only $2,000—that is to say only the equity in his property. But he is taxed on four times that. Can the State authorities imagine for a moment that the people will tolerate a state of things like this after they once understand it?"

Architecture as a Fine Art.

The lecture before the National Arts Club on Wednesday evening, November 15th, by Professor Walter Scott Perry, M. A., Director of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts, Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, was on the subject of Architecture as a Fine Art or The Evolution of Building. The lecture, which was abundantly illustrated by lantern slides, explained the essential principles of architectural construction and design and the principles which have controlled the development of the historic styles from the time of the Egyptians to the present day. These principles are comparatively simple and can be classified in a few terms, covering the evolution or development of the plan in temple and cathedral construction and of walls and roofs and openings for doors and windows. The significance of these features was fully illustrated, together with the dominating influence of the lintel as a constructive principle and the modification in construction which was brought about by the use of circular and pointed arches, and the essential changes wrought in architectural design by their adoption. The various columns in use in the historic styles were illustrated, showing the development of the perfected columns from primitive types. The derivation and growth of ornament in architectural design, the use and abuse of ornament, and the influence of religion, climate and material were discussed and illustrated. In treating of these various essentials of architectural construction and design, the significance of the title, "Architecture as a Fine Art," was clearly defined by the lecturer. The lecture was illustrated by over one hundred well chosen and beautiful lantern slides in black and white and color.

Samples of Stone Submitted for the Grand Central Station.

The New York Central Railroad Co. has had erected in the open air along side of its tracks, about one-quarter of a mile above the Van Cortlandt Park Station, a series of samples of various stone, consisting of granite, marble and limestone, etc., with the idea of selecting after an exposure to the weather during the winter, the stone deemed most suitable for the new station building at the Grand Central Depot. These samples have been polished and finished by the contractors, and have been set up on a solid foundation, which was provided by the New York Central Railroad. In front of the samples is a grass plot, which is kept nicely mown, and is fenced around on three sides. Each sample of stone has the firm's name on the back of it. Mr. Masterson, of Norcross Brothers, stated that he believed this was the first time samples had ever been submitted in this way, the usual custom being to send a small piece of stone in the rough, or, possibly polished on one side, but never in his experience had samples been kept in the open and exposed to the elements for any period. It has entailed expenses on each firm sending samples, but the New York Central Railroad has taken up all freight charges.

The enclosed is a list of the firms submitting samples, and the stone submitted to be erected: 1. Woodbury Granite Co. 2. John Peirce (Fox Island). 3. Booth Brothers (Waldoboro). 4. George Doyle (Blue Bedford Limestone). 5. Perry-Matthews & Buskirk (Buff Limestone.) 6. Webb & Co. (Milford Pink.) 7. Thompson-Starrett Co. (Bethel Granite). 8. Booth Brothers (Hurricane Island). 8. Norcross Brothers (Dorset Marble). 9. Norcross Brothers (Milford Pink). 10. W. N. Flint & Co. (Dummerston). 11. John Pierce (Jonesboro). 12. John Peirce (Hallowell). 13. Norcross Brothers (Stony Creek). 14. John Peirce (Mt. Waldo). 15. Milford Pink Granite Co.

—The preliminary work of electrifying the West Shore Railroad for a distance of 81 miles, between Rochester and Syracuse, has commenced. The Buffalo Pole, Line & Construction Company will erect a series of derricks on which will be strung three aluminum feed cables for the transmission of electricity from Niagara Falls, the work to be completed by March 1, 1906.

Wanamaker Building Held Up

Work on Shelves, Cases and Counters Suspended Pending Legislation on Fireproof Wood

"Fireproof Wood" and the Builders.

Whereas, We, the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, are informed that an ordinance has been introduced by Alderman Ware, known as Ordinance No. 2303, having for its object the elimination of the compulsory use of so-called fireproof wood in buildings, and

Whereas, This body has repeatedly expressed itself as being opposed to the compulsory use of so-called fireproof wood, and

Whereas, There are many good and valid reasons why so-called fireproof wood is disadvantageous to the building community, and no apparently good reason why it is of advantage, it is hereby

Resolved, That this Board, representing the Building Trades Employers' Association of the City of New York, request the Legislative Committee of this Association to make every possible endeavor to bring before the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor of this City the reasons why the compulsory use of fireproof wood should be stricken from the Building Code; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution be forwarded to the Board of Aldermen of the City of New York.

MR. WANAMAKER'S new department store in its unfinished state is a monument to the impracticability and severity of the fireproof wood provision in the Building Code. While that law stands the building will not be finished, as it is believed that repeal legislation will soon be passed by the Board of Aldermen. The great building needs to be equipped with shelves and cases for goods, and with counters, dwarf partitions and platforms, to make it ready for commercial purposes, but only a small part of this equipment had been put in when the work was stopped by the Building Bureau because the wood that was being used was not of the kind called "fireproof."

The work of installing these fixtures, which had been started on the first, second and third floors, has not been resumed, and Mr. Wanamaker has not decided what to do, except for the present to wait. If the ordinance is amended by striking out the fireproof wood clause, as the building trades and insurance companies pray, the work will be resumed with untreated wood. If the requirement is permitted to remain in defiance of public opinion, then the Building Department will order the work thus far done removed. The treating of all the wood going into this work will double the cost of the material, and make a difference to Mr. Wanamaker of many thousands of dollars. Moreover, his architects tell him that the salts with which the wood must be treated will very likely spoil some of his goods.

That the treatment will injure the appearance of the wood is also probable, as this has been the usual result. Anyone can judge for himself who will scan the woodwork in the new section of the Metropolitan Building at Fourth av and 23d st. The building was completed less than two years ago, yet the woodwork is sadly marred by eruptions from the wood, being in marked contrast to the trim in the older section of the building, which is in good condition. Every member of the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen should pay a visit to the Metropolitan Building and see for himself how fireproofing wood spoils the appearance of the woodwork in a fine building.

President Murphy, of the Murphy Contracting Company, general contractors, remarked this week that he was glad to see that an effort was being made to relieve the building industry of the "fireproof" wood imposition. "New York is the only city in the world that could have been imposed on in this way for so long a while," said Mr. Murphy, "and no other Building Code in the world contains this provision; and I venture to say that after New York's experience, none other will.

"From a personal experience in the construction of buildings over 150 ft in height, I assure you, first, that the other requirements of the Building Code are so thoroughly conducive to real fireproof construction that the small amount of wood that enters into a building for trim, floors, etc., certainly cannot add to the fire risk to any appreciable extent.

"Secondly, the known process for fireproofing wood, at least, as it is recognized by the Building Department of this city, is far from being adapted to commercial use on a scale large enough for a city of this size. It is a well-known fact that in the buildings of this city in which 'fireproof' wood was installed some five or six years ago, that the wood has long since lost whatever fire-resisting properties might have temporarily been given to it, and is now in the course of decay."

John I. Downey, of 410 West 34th st, Manhattan, a prominent builder, said this week:

"Our experience in handling and using so-called fireproof wood corresponds to the experiences of the well-known architects and builders whose opinions you have already printed in recent issues of your paper, and I do not know that I can do more than state that I fully concur in the objections made by them to the material in question, and in considering it practically valueless for use as a fireproof material in important structures. It further seems to me that the law requiring its use is unjust and unreasonable, as it forces the use of a material which costs more than that which it replaces, at the same time being admittedly less desriable in many ways, and having no compensating advantages, as far as I can judge from our experience and that of others who have made use of it."

Sewer Construction.

The work of constructing new sewers in Manhattan, which is mostly in the upper end of the island, has been delayed on account of unopened streets, but is now in a fair way to being accomplished. Right of way has been obtained to sewers in 211th and 216th sts, from Broadway to Harlem River, where outlet sewers are being built. Resolutions authorizing work in other streets have been passed, and, while the construction of the outlet sewers in 211th to 216th sts, has not yet been authorized by the Board of Apportionment, the Bureau is making working drawings, so that as soon as such resolutions are passed there will be no delay in letting the contract.

A large amount of work is now being required of this Bureau in the matter of repairing and rebuilding sewers of the older system which have failed to accomplish the work required of them. The old pipe system, laid some thirty or forty years ago, is now showing signs of failure, and causing considerable trouble, and it is a matter of necessity to rebuild many miles of this class of work.

Change in New York Lighterage Limits.

The following change is announced in the lighterage limits of New York harbor. To wit: On the north and east shore of Staten Island the limits now read: "Points on north and east shore of Staten Island, between Bridge Creek (Arlington) and Clifton, both inclusive, and including Elm Park, Erastina, and Shooter Island." In accordance with this change the following extra towing duty charges are done away with: "To or from any point on the Staten Island shore between Port Richmond and Mariner's Harbor, including Elm Park, Erastina, and Shooter Island, $7. To or from Arlington, Staten Island, $10." These changes are now effective.

Progress in Belmont Tunnel.

At the Belmont tunnel shaft in Fourth st, Long Island City, it was stated that the excavators for the two tubes that are to connect Queens Borough with the Grand Central depot in Manhattan, had blasted their way towards the river for a distance of 265 feet. The progress being made is satisfactory and up to expectations. Until this week the works were free of water, but now through several fissures it is coming through, and pumps have been started.

BUILDING NOTES

Clouds are gathering in the labor sky.

Brick-making on the Hudson has ceased for the season.

Navigation on the Hudson closed last year on Dec. 4 for up-river points.

On the 1st of July work was progressing in Manhattan Borough on 1,116 buildings.

It is understood that the Long Island Railroad Company is preparing to extend the electrification of its road.

An increase of 10 per cent. in the price of leather belting has been decided upon by the National Leather Belt Association.

An advance has been made in the price of enameled iron bathtubs and enameled iron sinks ranging from 8 to 12 per cent., according to size and quality.

The contract for changing the motive power of one of the London underground railways from steam to electricity has been awarded to the General Electric Company.

The Boston Architecturel Club announces that its Exhibition of Architecture and the Allied Arts will be held this season in the Boston Public Library, from Jau. 1 to Jan. 22, inclusive.

Richey, Browne & Donald, of Maspeth, architectural iron and bronze workers, have taken a large contract for the United States Express Realty Co.'s building on Rector st, for which Messrs. Clinton & Russell are the architects.

The Reliance Ball Bearing Door Hanger Co., 1 Madison av, has just obtained the contract for 44 single hangers for the Keyser Bldg., Baltimore, and 26 double speed hangers for the new Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn.

The Rose Brick Co. completed the season's manufacturing on Monday. The output amounted to 84,260,000 bricks, with an average per machine of nearly 3,750,000. This is the largest average and the greatest total of brick ever before made in New York State by any brick manufacturing plant.

C. O. Mailloux, 76 William st, has been appointed electrical engineer, and A. R. Wolff, 130 Fulton st, is steam engineer for the new 18-sty hotel, which the Plaza Operating Co. will build at 5th av and 58th and 59th sts. H. J. Hardenberg, 1 West 34th st, is architect, and the Geo. A. Fuller Co. the general contractors.

Lumber dealers are doing as much business this November as at any time during the season, and should they have a moderate winter there will be a good volume of business right through. Prices for building stock are firm all along the line, and wholesalers assert that it will be a difficult matter to secure as much stock as they would like before Winter sets in.

Preliminary estimates are being received by Milliken Bros., 11 Broadway, New York, on about $1,000,000 worth of equipment for the proposed new steel plant the company is considering erecting on Staten Island. It is understood that the nature of these bids will determine as to whether the company will go ahead and build the plant which it has had under consideration for some time.

Lewis B. Stillwell, who superintended the electrical equipment of the elevated and subway lines of the Interborough system, is now in charge of both the electrical and mechanical equipment of the New York, Westchester & Boston R. R., now building. H. S. Putnam, who has been associated with Mr. Stillwell for a number of years, has opened offices at 30 Broad st, where the staff of this department will be located.

The Sterling Steel Ceiling Co. has removed from 134 East 31st st into larger and more centrally located offices at 1 East 42d st. This concern is composed of Edgar E. Biechele and Francis C. Slusher, both of whom were for nine years in the employ of the Berger Mfg. Co., the former as a salesman and the latter as superintendent of construction. They will be pleased to talk with real estate men or owners of property who are undecided as to whether or not a steel ceiling will improve their property.

Lath are bringing $5@$5.50 at wholesale, the highest price ever known, and every probability is for higher and still higher quotations until the requirement, now enormous, begins to lessen. Mr. Cutler, of Stetson, Cutler & Redmond, who some months ago expressed apprehensions of a lath famine before the Winter passed, estimates that the production for this year will not be more than thirty million above normal, so that little account could have been taken by the mills of the unusual demand for this by-product.

The fifty-second meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held in New York City the first week in December. The headquarters, instead of being at the society house, 12 West 31st st, as in previous years, will be at the Edison building, 44 West 27th st. The two upper floors of the latter building will be used and the opening session, at which President John R. Freeman will present the annual address, will take place there on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5. The second or business session will be held Wednesday morning in the main saloon of the steamship Amerika at the docks of the Hamburg-American Line, Hoboken, N. J.

William C. Orr, attorney for the Odell estate, with offices at No. 51 Chambers st, on Thursday, when interrogated for the Record and Guide, said that the report in the daily press of the sale of Nos. 42 to 52 West 33d st, consisting of six 4-sty dwellings, covering a plot 120x98.9, to Mr. W. R. H. Martin, owner of the Martinique Hotel, 56 West 33d st, was incorrect. He added that the prospect for a deal hinged entirely upon the Odell heirs, but the matter at this time looked doubtful. If Mr. Martin does succeed in the purchase of the site, it is probable that the Martinique will be enlarged, taking in this 33d st frontage. Last June, it will be recalled, Mr. Martin commissioned Henry J. Hardenberg, of 1 West 34th st, to prepare plans for an addition to that hotel to occupy the northeast corner of Broadway and 32d st, now occupied by the Rogers-Peet building. The present hotel is a 16-sty building fronting 67.10 ft. at Nos. 54 to 58 West 35th st, having a depth of half the block, or 98.9 ft., with an "L" in Broadway at Nos. 1264 to 1268, 39.2 ft., with a depth of 74.2 ft. It was estimated at that time that the cost of the new portion, and alterations to the old would total $2,500,000. But up to the present no contract for the carrying out of this idea has been awarded. (See issue June 17, 1905.)

An Enviable Record.

Vault lights are to-day so prominent a factor in building construction that it is not only interesting but remarkable to observe in this strenuous age a firm that was the leader in this particular branch of trade as far back as 1845 still maintaining that enviable position among its competitors. This can truthfully be said of the firm of Jacobs & Son, who succeeded the old firm known as "The Hyatts" as far back as the date above mentioned. The latter firm were the original patentees of vault lights and the earliest manufacturers in this line of industry. Mr. Jacobs, Sr., was employed as a boy with the Hyatt firm nearly forty years ago, since which time he has been continuously in the business, and his firm of Jacobs & Son is generally acknowledged by architects and builders throughout the country to be the foremost concern of its kind in the world. Mr. Jacobs has been instrumental in furthering the interests of the vault light business to the extent of over two hundred patents.

Messrs. Jacobs & Son have been the contractors for furnishing vault lights for the majority of the prominent buildings of the country, as can be best evidenced by the list which follows: The New York Hall of Records, Tiffany building, New York Stock Exchange, New York Custom House, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Gorham building, the Munsey building at Washington, the Custom House at Baltimore, the Post Office at Cleveland, O., the Frear building at Troy, N. Y., the McCall building, New York City; Majestic Theatre, New York City; Appellate Court, New York City; College of the City of New York, Mercantile building, New York City; Subway Corridors, New York City; Essex County Court House, Newark, N. J.; Siegel-Cooper store, New York City; Macy building, New York City; Gouverneur Hospital, New York City; Flatiron building, New York City; Herald building, New York City; Baltimore American building, Baltimore, Md.; Maryland Casualty Company building, Baltimore, Md.; Belmont Hotel, New York City; Times building, New York City; Lawyers Title Insurance and Trust Company building, Brooklyn, N. Y.; India building, Boston, Mass; Penn Mutual Building, Boston, Mass.; Upham building, Boston, Mass.; Pennsylvania R. R. Depot, Newark, N. J., and the Lackawanna Terminal building, Hoboken, N. J.

Although this is but a partial list of the large contracts which this enterprising firm has performed, still it gives a somewhat comprehensive idea of its prominence in the construction field. The magnitude and importance of the buildings above enumerated are sufficient in themselves to make Messrs. Jacobs & Son proud of their achievements and their correspondingly enviable position in the building world. Their efforts have not been confined to this country alone, as evidences of their skill and handiwork can be seen in work installed by them in Mexico and Honolulu. The leaders in their line of trade in 1845, the leaders also in 1905, a period extending over sixty years, is a distinction to be justly proud of. This old and reliable business house has been located at its present address, No. 510 Pearl st, this city, for upwards of eighteen years.

New Church at Jamaica.

The First Presbyterian congregation at Jamaica will build a new stone church and chapel on the present site, and at a total cost of $100,000. Clarence A. Ludlum is Chairman of the Board of Trustees. His associates are Isaac U. Hyatt, Ellsworth R. Skidmore, Theo. R. Chapman, William H. Griffith, John H. Mills, Charles A. Lockwood, James J. Ryder and John R. Everitt. The Advisory Committee comprises Dr. Edgar D. Shimer, Joseph H. Remsen and R. W. Higbie. The contract for the building of the chapel will probably be awarded next spring. Arthur W. Bolton, of Philadelphia, is the architect.

THIS illustrates the New York Stock Exchange, of which Mr. Geo. B. Post was the architect. From the viewpoints of architectural beauty, solidity of construction and up-to-date equipment, it ranks among the first of its kind in the world. Among the artistic features of this remarkable building, the art metal work, consisting of stairways, railings, gates and window frames and sashes of iron, finished in Duplex Bronze Plate, all manufactured by the Hecla Iron Works, stand out boldly as master specimens of the artisan in metal.

The Hecla Iron Works is recognized as the first and foremost concern in the manufacture of Architectural Metal Work in the World. Its plant is the largest and most complete, and the quality of its work is considered the standard, the world over.

North 10th, 11th and 12th Sts., from Wythe Ave. to Berry St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Labor Notes.

Efforts to restore harmony between the firm of Post & McCord and the iron erectors in their employ have thus far failed. At a meeting of the General Arbitration Board on Tuesday the strikers were ordered to resume work on Thursday morning and submit their case to arbitration under the terms of the arbitration agreement or stand suspended. Previously the Executive Committee had issued an order to the same effect, which had been disregarded. The last order came from the full General Board, which is composed of representatives both of employers and journeymen in all the trades working under the Arbitration Agreement. This too has been disregarded, and consequently the housesmiths and iron erectors, as represented by their district council, are now under the rule debarred from the protection and privileges guaranteed by the Arbitration Agreement. Thus far the strike affects appreciably in this city only the operations of the firm of Post & McCord.

The local unions of carpenters and joiners have under consideration amendments proposed to the constitution and by-laws. It is proposed, for one thing, to extend the authority of the president of the Joint District Council by giving him command over the business agents, but the prevailing sentiment is said to be against this and in favor of the local unions continuing their direct control over agents. Meetings so far held also show that popular opinion favors the retention of the methods in use to form the Borough Councils and opposes the proposed limitation of independent action. Under the amendments the title of the Borough Councils would be changed to Borough Boards, and their members would in each case consist of six Brotherhood carpenters and one Amalgamated. Power was intended to be given the president of the Joint District Council to investigate complaints against business agents and to change them from one district to another if in his judgment such action would be for the best interest of the craft.

Test of Building Materials.

On November 11, 13 and 14 Professor Ira A. Woolson, of Columbia University, made a test of specimen work in reinforced stone concrete and cinder concrete for buildings, in the presence of representatives of the building bureaus of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx.

Two all-concrete structures, each being about 14 ft. by 12 ft. high were erected. The roof of the one structure was composed of reinforced stone concrete and the roof of the other was composed of cinder concrete, in connection with a new type of construction in which steel beams are strengthened by a novel method of reinforcement, thus saving a certain amount of steel which would otherwise be used in the ordinary steel construction. All-reinforced stone concrete constructions are being extensively erected throughout the country by the Standard Concrete-Steel Co., of 100 Broadway, Manhattan, and the same company is also erecting considerable work under a new type of "reinforced steel" cinder concrete in cities adjacent to Greater New York.

If you want prints of any kind, blue or black, on paper or cloth, of any size and in any quantity, send to E. G. Soltmann, 125 East 42d st. He has the facilities and can deliver the goods.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

23D ST.—Jessie T. Bogle has sold to Jacob P. Stoltz for $28,000 No. 420 West 23d st, a 5-sty tenement, on lot 26.6x98.9.

23D ST.—J. W. Cushman & Co. has sold for I. M. Deuscher, jr., and Mabel B. Banks the 4-sty dwelling situate 428 West 23d st.

29TH ST.—Jacob Goldstein has bought from Arthur L. Morris, of Japan, through J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co., 512 and 514 West 29th st, two 5-sty double flats, on plot 50x98.9.

33D ST.—The Odell estate is reported to have sold 42 to 52 West 33d st, six 4-sty dwellings, on plot 120x98.9. The plot is one of the largest in the Greeley Square section. It adjoins the Martinique apartment house on the east and also abuts the rear of the Sloane building, leased by Rogers, Peet & Co., at the northeast corner of Broadway and 32d st. The buyer is said to be William R. H. Martin, owner of the Martinique and a member of the firm of Rogers, Peets & Co. His intention is to build another 16-sty apartment hotel, to which he will arrange a Broadway entrance through the Sloane property. The Martinique buildings will then have a frontage of nearly 190 ft on 33d st, with L's to both Broadway and 32d st. This property was reported sold to Mr. Martin in 1901. In 1900 it could have been bought for $400,000, and the price now is said to have been nearly $600,000. Nos. 30 to 36, a plot 70x98.9, sold in 1899 for $226,000. Mr. Martin says that he has not purchased the property, and Mr. Orr, representing the estate, states that while negotiations are on he does not believe that the property will be sold.

A. B. Ansbacher to E. B. Latham & Co., for ten years; also, sublet for the Regal Shoe Co. the store and basement at 43 Cortlandt st, to Bell & Co.

In the quarterly report of the Borough President of Manhattan mention is made of the completing of asphalt pavements in the following sts: Manhattan st, from St. Nicholas to 12th av (including Hancock pl); 121st st, from 8th to Morningside av; 129th st, from 5th to Lenox av; 27th st, from 8th to 9th av; 8th av, from Abingdon Sq to 13th st; Monroe st, from Montgomery to Gouverneur st; Scammel st, from Henry to Water st; 4th st, from Macdougal st to 6th av; Lafayette pl, from Astor pl to Great Jones st; Jackson st, from Grand to South st; Houston st, from Essex to Ludlow st; 6th st, from 1st to 2d av; Elizabeth st, from Spring to Prince st; Downing st, from Bedford to Bleecker st; Union Square, north side, from 4th av to Broadway; 19th st, from 2d to 3d av; 50th st, from 1st av to Beekman pl; 115th st, from Lexington to 5th av; Lexington av, from 76th to 77th st; 31st st, from 1st to 2d av; 27th st, from 6th to 7th av; 27th st, from 9th to 10th av.

Plans for the proposed new Municipal Building in Brooklyn, to cost $3,000,000, and cover nearly the whole block bounded by Court st, Joralemon st, Livingston st and Court st, are being prepared by McKim, Mead & White, and picture a building of simple, dignified and classical architecture. Its front elevation will be on Joralemon st. It is to be four stories in height, and the facade is to be beautified by fourteen immense Ionic pillars, which will support the architrave, and highly ornamental frieze and cornices will complete the entablature. It is intended to house the various municipal and county departments which are now very inconveniently placed. In the matter of rent the city pays annually in Brooklyn alone to private owners $100,000 a year. The first floor is intended for the Department of Taxes and Assessments. Separate entrances are to be provided for those having business with the Department of Charities and Health. There are also to be separate entrances for the County Courts and the Court of Special Sessions. Two years or more ago plans for the construction of a Municipal Building were made for the previous borough administration by Washington Hull. They contemplated the construction of a building at an estimated cost of one million dollars. These plans were rejected by the present administration. The architects submitted the plan for a building here outlined and also an alternative plan for a smaller building which might be erected upon a site excluding the Polytechnic Institute. The Borough President, however, is in favor of the larger plan.

Special Water Needs of Brooklyn.

With the legal restrictions and the limitations that surround large construction work for the City of New York, it now appears probable that even with the most vigorous beginning and the most rapid progress, from five to eight years must elapse before water from the new source in the Catskill Mountains can be delivered into Croton Lake, and thence to Manhattan, Brooklyn, and the other boroughs. Although the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, being more directly on the line of the aqueduct that will end in Brooklyn and Richmond, will, therefore, be naturally the first to be benfited, it must be recognized, the authorities say, that the present needs of Brooklyn are even more pressing than the needs of Manhattan, and they have, therefore, already engaged the attention of the engineers of the Board of Water Supply. The water shortage in Brooklyn during the past season has been almost without precedent in the history of a large American city. The consumption so outran the supply that there were hours in the day and even days at a time when houses on upper levels are said to have been deprived of a public water supply. In the course of this shortage resort was of necessity had to the throttling of gate valves in street distributing pipes to lessen the pressure and choke the draft, so that in many parts of the city water could not be drawn in the upper stories of dwellings during the working hours of the day. This throttling of water gates invites a conflagration hazard which it is not pleasant to dwell upon.

From the investigations and report of the Burr-Hering-Freeman Commission, it appears plain that if the present rate of increase in consumption continues, Brooklyn cannot be properly asked to wait for the new supply from the north.

From the studies of the ground water supply presented in the report of John R. Freeman, C. E., to Bird S. Coler, Comptroller, in the year 1900, and particularly from the more elaborate investigation of the Long Island underground sources made by the Burr-Hering-Freeman Commission, it is plain, says Chief Engineer J. Waldo Smith in his last report to the Board of Water Supply, that the additional sources most quickly available for relieving the great need of Brooklyn for more water, are to be found on Long Island, and no effort should be spared to make all those sources available. Nevertheless, Brooklyn must also be in part supplied from the Catskill sources.

The Engineering Department has already begun studies directed toward the further exploration of the deep underground sources of Long Island, regardless of present legislative limitations, and the Department feels it incumbent as a matter of engineering to record the fact that while Brooklyn should be given connections to the new supply from the north with all possible promptness, this relief is probably eight years off, and that its quickest and cheapest source of relief is in the ground waters of Long Island—particularly those of the region farther to the east than yet drawn upon for the city supply. From these more easterly sources a large surplus that now runs to waste into the sea could be taken for the use of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond, without real injury to the local communities, and it would for a long future remain one of the cheapest and purest sources, too valuable to be disregarded, even after water from the Catskill sources is delivered to Brooklyn and Queens.

Fortunately the structures required for securing this ground water and delivering it into Brooklyn are, as Chief Engineer J. Waldo Smith says, of a simple character, permitting very rapid construction and therefore early relief.

ELECTRICAL FIRES.

The quarterly fire report of the Electrical Bureau of the National Board of Underwriters is at hand. A summary of the reports received during the quarter gives the following results:

Two crosses between high and low potential circuits and nine between light or power wires and signalling systems have been reported.

Twenty fires have been caused by short circuits in interior wiring, six of which were in flexible cords.

Twenty-two fires were reported due to accidental grounding of circuits, of which four were on gas pipes, the resulting arcs burning holes through pipes and igniting escaping gas.

Nine reports of damage by lightning entering buildings over service wires, have been received.

Six fires have been attributed to incandescent lamps, in five of which heat from the lamp ignited material near by.

Five fires were caused by dynamos and motors; two of these evidenced careless attention on part of attendants.

Three fires were due to loose connections in electrical fittings.

Two pole and tree fires were reported.

Four reports were received of fires due to overheated rheostats in elevator control apparatus.

Reports of forty-two other fires attributed mainly to electrical heating irons, moving picture machines and defective electrical apparatus have been received, making a total of 115 electrical fires that have been reported during the past quarter, the losses aggregating over $256,403.

Reports have been received of 82 fires, losses aggregating $959,302, supposed to have been due to electricity, but they are not included in this report, as the causes could not be definitely proven as electrical, principally because the fires destroyed the conclusive evidences of their origin.

Eleven fires, losses aggregating $362,761, reported as due to electricity, have upon further and more reliable investigation been found to have been due to other causes.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Baragain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4.h.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 ndicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

November 10, 11, 13, 14, 15 and 16.

THERE are good reasons for disliking the looks of the present stock market. It behaves in an extremely nervous and erratic manner, and in spite of the lower rates for money, does not justify any confidence in its stability. From day to day different groups of securities are subject to flagrant manipulation. While the pools remain, on the whole, in control of the situation, it looks very much as if they were adopting shifty tactics in order to reduce their obligations. In short, it is the kind of market which might come very suddenly to grief; and we do not believe that conservative opinion in Wall Street would regret a sharp break, which might serve to keep speculation sober until after the first of the year. Then there might be room for many speculative advances under the leadership of Steel Preferred. That stock has not been subject to an important movement either one way or the other during the past few months; but it ought to be good for a ten point rise on its dividend record and prospects; and if such a rise could be engineered, it would do more than anything else to effect a general buying movement.

THE activity in real estate during the past week, has probably been greater and more varied than it has been during any week of the current year. It has included almost every important class of property; and it has been distributed throughout every important part of the city. The most notable transactions have, however, taken place in vacant property. Large areas have been sold in Brooklyn and Queens for early development. Operators have purchased equally large areas in the Bronx, in the evident expectation of repeating the successful speculations of last year, while the Fleischmann Realty & Construction Company has bought two blocks of unimproved property in Harlem from the Manhattan Railway Company. Evidently speculators believe that there is no need to reduce the pace at the present time, and they must be counting on the continuation of the current consumption of vacant property for tenement house purposes. The Record & Guide is afraid that in this respect they are making a mistake, for the present building movement cannot be continued for another year without bringing with it a renewal of the unwholesome conditions which existed on the West Side and in Harlem during 1900. The speculators in Bronx and Inwood property must take their choice between two alternatives. If they force up the value of land so high that tenements and apartment houses must be built, the consumption of vacant property by builders cannot remain large; but wherever property is kept so low that one and two family houses can be profitably built upon it, its consumption will be vastly larger. However, vacant land has not by any means been monopolizing attention of purchasers. The buying of tenement houses has continued; a number of expensive residences have been sold; and business property all over the city has been in good demand. A large number of old brown stone houses, between 5th and 6th aves, on 20th and 21st sts, have recently been sold, and will be replaced by loft buildings. These are the only streets south of 23d st, in the new wholesale districts, which are still to a large extent unconverted to business uses; but it looks as if at the end of 1906 there would be very few residences remaining on these blocks. Thereafter, the additional room required for lofts will have to be found north of 23d st; and from the appearance of things at present, it looks as if business of this kind would occupy the whole district between Broadway and 8th ave, 23d and 34th sts. The high prices of real estate along the line of 5th ave will force the builders of lofts to go farther west than they have been disposed to do in the past; and there has already been a good deal of activity in the above-described district in anticipation of this result. The decision of the Eastman Company to build on 23d street, between 7th and 8th aves, is significant in this respect. No other cross-town st has amounted to much west of 7th ave; but apparently the business activity of 23d st will extend at least as far west as 8th ave, and perhaps farther. Moreover, whatever can be said about the over-production of tenement-house accommodation, there is certainly no over-production of business buildings. In this branch of constructional activity, the growth is regular and wholesome.

MR. D. O. MILLS has made a curious selection for the site of the third charitable hotel, which he will have erected in Manhattan. He has paid about $500,000 for a plot of six lots on a corner of 36th st and 7th ave, upon which he proposes to erect a fifteen-story building. But why 36th st and 7th ave for a Mills Hotel? Those institutions are supposed to furnish cheap, clean and wholesome lodgings for poor men; and in order to provide this service, they ought to be located in a part of the city in which poor men work and live. Those already constructed are situated in industrial and tenement house districts, where property is not very expensive and where they help to take the place of the unsavory lodging houses, which are so demoralizing to their inmates. But the third hotel is situated on comparatively expensive property in the heart of the Tenderloin. It will be very convenient for the impecunious actors, and for sporting men, who are out of luck; but its neighborhood competitors will not be cheap and demoralizing lodging houses; they will be the Hotels Navarre and York. It would look, consequently, as if Mr. Mills would have done better to have situated his third hotel two blocks further west, and, perhaps, ten blocks further north. It will be very interesting to see, however, what sort of patronage Mills Hotel No. 3 will obtain. Seventh ave, between 42d and 34th sts, will become a very important thoroughfare after the Pennsylvania and Long Island Terminal has been in operation a few years. It would seem to be an extremely good location for theatres and restaurants, as soon as New York needs any more places of amusement of that kind; and it may be that ten years from now the charitable Mills Hotel will be elbowed by neighbors as gaudy and glittering as the buildings now situated on Long Acre Square.

IT is natural that the owners of the property, between 32d and 33d sts, on Greeley Square, which the New York and New Jersey Railroad proposes to condemn, should object to being deprived of real estate so advantageously situated; and it may be that they will succeed in preventing the company from condemning their holdings. It is very much to be desired, however, in the public interest that some arrangement can be reached between the property-owners and the railroad, for there can be no doubt that the combined plans of the Pennsylvania and the trolley company offer many advantages to the travelling public of this city. The joint station of the three railroads would undoubtedly be the greatest railroad terminal in the world—not only on account of its size, but because it would receive and discharge more passengers than any other existing center of railway traffic. Moreover, as the suburban population of Long Island and New Jersey increases, the facilities offered by the terminal for travelling from one of these neighborhoods to the other will be of the utmost convenience to hundreds of thousands of people. If the plans of the company are blocked, it would mean a very real loss to the city of New York. On the other hand, if they are not blocked the city ought to have something to say about the disposition on the street level of the property acquired for terminal purposes. The Record and Guide has frequently pointed out that the existing plan of Greeley Square and its neighborhood will prove to be wholly inadequate for the accommodation of the traffic which, ten years hence, will be concentrated in that vicinity; and now that the terminal plans of the trolley company have been outlined, the force of this warning is very much increased. Already the congestion on the Square during certain evening hours is very bad, and what will it be when the terminal is in full operation, and when more hotels, office-buildings and places of amusement have been erected hard by? Just what the best revision of the existing street lay-out would be, we are not prepared to say; but it must certainly include more cleared space on the Square itself, and a wider passageway to Seventh ave. The city authorities should at the proper time co-operate with the railroad companies in effecting these changes, and it is fair that the city pay part of the expense.

IF the union of the Housesmiths' remains obdurate, and refuses to return to work, there can be no question as to the result of their refusal. The union will be broken by the Employers' Association, just as the other unions which violated the arbitration agreement were broken. The job of breaking them and organizing a new union may tie up the work on certain sky-scrapers for a month or two; but the members of the Employers' Association are so thoroughly united in favor of punishing any obstinate failure to live up to the arbitration agreement that they are bound to carry their point. The arbitration agreement is not a perfect thing; but it has the incontestable advantage of uniting the employers, while it divides the mechanics. Whenever a dispute occurs, so many of the unions remain true to their pledges that the life is taken out of the opposition to the existing system; and, according to all appearances, this will be the result in the present instance. Most of the unions will stand by the agreement and will permit the temporary employment of non-union men without striking. It seems incredible that the Housesmiths will not recognize in time that they are fighting a loosing battle. They have erred in breaking the agreement; they have erred in trying to make Post & McCord responsible for the employment of non-union men in Pittsburgh, by the American Bridge Company; ana the consequences of the error will be serious—provided it is not quickly abjured.

Real Estate Departments in Trust Companies.

THE methods pursued by New York trust companies, especially in the department of real estate, differ from those in Western cities. Mr. Lorenzo E. Anderson, Vice-President of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, is of opinion that the real estate department of a trust company should have its own experienced appraisers, salesmen and rent collectors, and thus avoid the necessity of seeking outside assistance in the management of the real property belonging to estates in the hands of the company. As will be seen from the annexed reports of interviews with prominent officers of leading trust companies in New York, a regular real estate department such as Mr. Anderson advocates is not only considered unneccessary, but is looked upon as a detriment to the proper conduct of the realty business. These gentlemen point out that the real estate interests are so large, important and extensive, that no real estate department in a New York company could be sufficiently well organized to do justice to the management of real property in all cases. Experts must be consulted and called in in many instances, and it is much better to pay commissions to such, the New York companies claim, than, to undertake to do the business themselves.

In the West, the country is comparatively new and still in a process of development. Trust companies there may find it essential to have their own real estate department with its experienced staffs. Conditions in New York warrant nothing of this sort. Real estate brokers and agents of local and National reputation can do better with property that may be placed in their hands than the realty specialist employee of any trust company. In other words, the average New York trust company employs the best expert talent in the city that may be available according to the character and importance of the property. To do otherwise, in their judgment, would not be acting in the best interests of their clients or customers. Necessarily all New York trust companies have charge of real estate either in the form of bond and mortgage or as part of a trust and are, under proper conditions, always ready to accept such business, but they think that to organize a regular real estate department would be as unprofitable as it is unwise, besides gratuitously ignoring, if not antagonizing, the great real estate firms, brokers and others. Mr. Anderson's arguments, that by having a fully equipped real estate department in a trust compahy the management of many estates would be secured, and that the settlement of such transactions would bring a host of new customers and depositors, are not disputed. The point of the whole question is, however, as to whether outside assistance in the management of real estate should be called in by a trust company or its own men employed for that purpose. The officers of the New York trust companies believe in the outside assistance.

VIEWS OF OFFICERS ON THE SUBJECT OF COMBINING THE TWO BRANCHES OF BUSINESS.

Inquiries among the officers of the leading trust companies in New York show that the establishment of real estate departments has not been considered essential.

The officers of the Colonial Trust Company have very decided opinions on the subject. The Colonial Trust Company has offices in the St. Paul Building, 222 Broadway. Its president is Mr. John E. Borne, and it numbers among its vice-presidents Messrs. Richard Delafield, Cord Meyer and James W. Tappin. Mr. Joseph N. Babcock, its Trust officer, said to a representative of the Record and Guide:

"We have no real estate department properly so called in the Colonial Trust Company. It would be of no advantage to us in any respect. Such real estate as comes into the company's care in the course of business we place in the hands of those best qualified to manage it by their expert knowledge and experience. Small details, such as the collection of rents, letting or leasing certain property, making arrangements for repairs and like matters may be looked after by the company, but anything of greater importance is turned over to the best brokers and agents.

"In New York there is certainly no necessity in my opinion for a real estate department of a trust company. By this I mean that while it is eminently proper that realty in trust should be placed in the hands of a trust company, it should, nevertheless, be looked after by real estate agents and brokers. With their expert knowledge, their experienced appraisers, salesmen and rent collectors of whose integrity and ability there is no question, and for which the trust company stands responsible, the very best results are to be obtained in the interests of our clients. Indeed I look upon such outside assistance in the management of the real property in an estate in the hands of a trust company as absolutely necessary. I fail to see how our New York trust companies can find any better method of handling and administering realty in trust than that pursued at present. To illustrate the correctness of my conclusions. There was a trust company formed in connection with a large and influential real estate company for the avowed purpose of handling real estate in trust, making, as it were, a specialty of such a department. The projectors of the company naturally thought that the bulk of trust realty business would thus be obtained. But they were disappointed. Real estate interests resented what seemed an interference with its regular machinery of operation and its legitimate functions. What was the consequence? The trust company and the realty firm separated, and now both carry on business on former methods.

"I can understand," continued Mr. Babcock, "why in certain Western cities a real estate department in a trust company may be advantageous. Out there is practically a new country awaiting development, and both banks and trust companies must do things entirely foreign to their functions in Eastern cities."

The president of one of the foremost downtown trust companies was next interviewed. This company includes in its directory John Jacob Astor, George J. Gould, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, James J. Hill, Valentine P. Snyder, George L. Rives, Mortimer L. Schiff and Sidney Dillon Ripley.

The trust company's president's views on the subject of a real estate department in a trust company were much of the same character as those of Mr. Babcock, of the Colonial Trust Company. He said to the Record and Guide representative:

"Some trust companies in the Western cities, where the conditions are different from what they are in New York, may find it necessary to have a real estate department with its staff of salesmen, appraisers and buyers. Undoubtedly new depositors may possibly be secured and additional business may result from such an arrangement, but the banking transfer bond, trust, foreign, trustee and other departments, many of the transactions in which are based on realty, cover all the business that we consider the function of a trust company without having a realty department under highly specialized management. Besides we feel we can do better for our customers where real estate is concerned by employing regular real estate brokers and specialists. Our trust department first consideration is the best interests of its clients, and these cannot be better served in matters of realty than by employing those thoroughly familiar with the details of real estate business.

Among the directors of a large uptown trust company are Douglas Robinson, George C. Boldt, Robert M. Gallaway, Morton F. Plant, Frank Tilford, J. Harsen Rhoades and Louis Stern. An officer of this company gave his views to the Real Estate Record and Guide in the following terms. He had been asked for his opinions also as to the methods that obtained in trust companies in New York regarding real estate in the trust deuartment of such companies as compared with the practice in certain Western cities. He said:

"I am quite familiar with the history of trust companies who have endeavored to conduct a real estate department worthy of the name, and have come to the conclusion in every instance that it was not a wise step. This is also the consensus of opinion of those who are interested in real estate or its management. Our New York trust companies' methods of handling and administering realty in trust give the best results and the greatest satisfaction to all concerned. The real estate interests of New York as is represented by brokers and agents are widespread and extensive. These are skilled men, have vast experience and are important factors in the business of which they have made a specialty. Many of them are our strong and influential friends, and it certainly would be a mistake to antagonize them by trust companies entering into direct competition with them, by collecting rentals, making transfers and doing a dozen other things which are properly the function of real estate agents or brokers. Our trust company is holding such property does not hesitate in every instance where we consider it desirable to call in real estate experts who can attend to the direct oversight better than we can. The money paid for commissions is not an added burden to the estate, but is in reality an economy. Moreover the initial expense for the organization of a real estate department of a trust company of high standing would not be less than $25,000 a year. The salary of the man at the head of it would be at least $15,000 a year, if not more. It would require a large amount in commissions in realty transactions to cover such fixed charges, and the business would not be as well done as by real estate brokers, agents, and firms who make real estate a specialty."

Mr. Henry L. Thornell, the secretary of the United States Trust Company, No. 45 Wall st., of which Lyman F. Gage is president, talked freely to the Record and Guide representative on the subject of a real estate department.

"We have a real estate department," he said, " in our company. Small details and the ordinary routine of such business are attended to direct from this office; but for important matters we at once call in real estate brokers and experts. We either pay for these services the regular commissions or an amount under a special assessment. We of course loan money on bond and mortgage, our executive committee passing on the transactions and using their judgment in such matters. A real estate department such as exists in Western cities is entirely unnecessary here because conditions are different. In the West loans are made on all kinds of real estate, and possibly to a large extent on farming lands in remote parts of a State. A trust company there must have a fully equipped staff to look after such property. Here it is otherwise, most of the trust companies confining their loans to realty in New York County and Brooklyn. From this point of view every trust company in New York has a more or less highly organized real estate department."

The Operation of the Mortgage Tax Law

As Viewed by the Register of New York County

By JOHN H. J. RONNER

The new statute took effect July 1, 1905, but the law has been evaded from the moment of its inception. For several weeks prior to the first of July, new mortgages in enormous number were made and recorded. In June alone 9,565 were recorded. A large part of them represented contemplated transactions, which were thus anticipated—all for the purpose apparently of evading payment of the mortgage tax. After July 1st there was, of course, for a time a lull in mortgages. Nevertheless, the real estate market continued fairly active, so that the necessity for new mortgages again arose. The problem was how to avoid payment of the tax until the tax could be repealed. This problem was solved in two ways: First, by making mortgages payable on demand, as to which it was held that the mortgage tax was not payable at the time of recording, but its payment was deferred until July 1, next year; and, secondly, by making mortgages payable in say ten days, a nominal period, as to which it was held that the mortgage tax should be paid for only ten days at the time of recording, and that the payment of the remainder of the tax be deferred until July 1 next year—or the earlier satisfaction of the mortgage.

The mortgage taxes collected thus far have been very small in amount—disappointingly so, I suppose, to the State officials, who have been counting upon getting large revenues in this manner from the rich City of New York, so as to save the country districts from direct State taxation. The mortgage taxes actually paid in the County of New York have been as follows, viz:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1905, | July | $20,848.72 |
| | August | 28,131.92 |
| | September | 30,609.50 |
| | October | 43,741.33 |
| | November 1 to 17 | 34,521.13 |
| | | $157,852.60 |

The number of mortgages so far examined and entered in the Mortgage Tax Bureau is 5,850; amounting altogether to about $60,400,000; but the payment of the tax upon a large portion of them has been deferred as above indicated. One-half of the taxes collected are paid into the State Treasury. This is manifestly unfair to the City, because only a small share of these taxes will be collected outside of the metropolis. The City will thus pay about three times its fair proportion of the tax.

EVASION OF THE LAW.

The receipts from the mortgage tax have been thus small because of the ease with which the payment of the tax may be evaded for the first pear. If the law be continued in force the receipts for the next year will be large, and will grow from year to year until practically all of the money in the State loaned upon mortgages is brought under the tax. The deferred payments must then be made—unless new schemes of evasion are invented. The present law will doubtless be the subject of forceful attacks in the Legislature, and its repeal will be demanded by very powerful and influential interests. The sentiment among real estate dealers and owners seems to be practically unanimous in favor of repeal.

The law will also be the subject of numerous proposed amendments. Certainly it should be at least substantially amended. Numerous defects in the Act were pointed out by me before its passage, when the two bills were before the Governor. The bill enacted was a little less unworkable than the first bill; but it was still very defective. The law is verbose, illogical and difficult of interpretation and is full of pitfalls and absurdities. For instance, it has been held by the State Board of Tax Commissioners, who are charged with construing the statute, that the recording of an old mortgage merely for the purpose of correcting clerical errors subjects the mortgage to the new tax. Also if the tax be paid for a year in advance and the mortgage is sooner satisfied, there is no means of procuring a rebate. This results in the evasive mortgages above alluded to. The various rulings of the State authorities have been conflicting. The recording officers are, with reference to this tax, merely the agents of the State Tax Commissioners and subject to their directions.

EFFECT OF THE TAX.

The effect of the mortgage tax has been to raise the rate of interest on real estate mortgages by from ½% to 1%. The mortgages which were formerly placed at 4%, 4½% and 5% are now for the most part placed at 5%, 5½% and 6%. For the three weeks ending October 14, 1905, for example, the number of mortgages recorded in Greater New York, at 5½% was 435; while for the same period of 1904, the number of 5½% mortgages was only 13. The rates of 5¼% and 5¾%, formerly unknown, are coming into vogue, covering increases of ¾%—or ¼% more than the mortgage tax.

Another effect of the tax has been the hampering of real estate transactions; fewer mortgage loans have been made than otherwise would have been the case. The mortgages at 4½% recorded in 1905 between July 1 and September 21, in New York County amounted to only $2,009,299; while for the corresponding period of 1904 such mortgages amounted to $16,756,275. These figures are very significant of the decrease in loanable funds at 4½% upon mortgage security.

The prophecy of Governor Higgins that the Mortgage Tax would result in increasing the amount of money offered for mortgage investment by large estates and conservative investors has not been fulfilled. A little money may have been unlocked, but much more money has been sent for investment into neighboring states which have no Mortgage Tax Law. And it has been credibly reported that many capitalists have declared that they will not lend money in this State upon real estate security until this tax is repealed. Also, only a small number of holders of old mortgages have exercised the option, given by Section 314 of the Act, to bring old mortgages within the mortgage tax.

The chief evil of the Mortgage Tax law, however, is that it discriminates against the debtor class, property owners who have given mortgages, and in favor of owners whose holdings are free and clear. Thus, A DEBTOR PAYS TAXES UPON HIS OWN DEBTS.

A small recording tax upon mortgages payable once for all at the time of recording, might be endured, although theoretically unjust, but the existing law is a well recognized ABOMINATION. It has especially excited the deep hatred of builders, who are among the most important factors in the building up of the community. It subjects them to double taxation. It also makes it more difficult to procure loans at legal rates of interest, thus putting the least able borrowers at the mercy of money sharks."

No Marked Recession in Values

Expected by Lending Institutions—Present Real Estate Movement Will Long Continue

When it is considered for how long the business of the country, and more particularly of the departments in this city connected with real estate, has been not only in prosperous ways but in immensity exceeding all previous knowledge, it is not surprising that some should pause to take a reckoning and get our bearings anew, or that some should wonder if the time has not come to look for a slackening of pace if not a relaxation of values. About now it was entirely in order for a spokesman to rise up and conjecture that "the bulk of the money supporting the present activity in real estate consists of the capital of professional dealers and non-professional speculators; that savings banks, trust companies and other lending institutions have retired from the mortgage loan market, and that to those who do not share the belief that New York realty has ceased to be subject to fluctuations in value, a recession appears inevitable in the very near future."

It is conceded that the circumstances now connected with real estate in this city are new; movements have developed that were unexpected; sentiments and desires and financial abilities have been disclosed which were not generally known to exist; but anyone who will study the present movement will soon hit upon its main cause, and then will perceive that the element of permanence is very strongly represented therein. So it appears to the governors of the principal lending institutions, who, as the Record and Guide has ascertained, have the fullest faith in real estate continuing long on its present basis, with no apprehension of a recession in values and no thought that values in Manhattan and Brooklyn at least, and generally speaking throughout the city, are not what they ought to be.

A TALK WITH PRESIDENT McMAHON.

One of the largest lending institutions in this or any other city is the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank in Chambers st, of which Mr. James McMahon is president. When Mr. McMahon was asked if he had observed any indications of dissatisfaction on the part of money lending institutions with the status of the real estate market, or that any were retiring from the mortgage loan market, as had been asserted, he said that his bank was still loaning money freely in the direction of mortgages, and so far for the year 1905 had put out $12,000,000, which, perhaps, is as large an amount as had been put out by this bank in the same way in any previous year.

In regard to trust companies, and Mr. McMahon is connected as a director with one, they also were every week putting out money for trustees on real estate mortgages. From his own knowledge and from information which came to him from personal contact with the officers of savings and trust institutions he knew that they were very willing indeed to put money out in that direction. The only trouble was, and Mr. McMahon smiled, some were unable to get as many applications as they would like. The money which his bank had put out on real estate mortgages, particularly during the last thirty years, was considered the safest investments it had. In all these years with all the business done in that direction the bank had, so to speak, literally lost nothing.

"Do the Banks expect any recession in real estate values, either in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx or Queens?" Mr. McMahon was asked. "Do you consider that prices in real estate are inflated?"

"There may be in the Bronx or perhaps in Brooklyn some special locality where values have been boomed beyond their merits; but taking the city as a whole, and especially Brooklyn, where I live and am therefore more familiar with conditions, I consider that present prices are moderate, and I look for an increase in valuations. There is a great demand for residence property," said the bank president emphatically.

"Do you agree with those who hold to the theory that New York landed property has ceased to be subject to the dangers which formerly attended a real estate boom?"

"I will say as a property owner, and I have owned property in Brooklyn since 1868, that there was a time when I felt I could not dispose of my property for more than 50 or 60 per cent. of what it had cost me. But that time has passed. Anybody at the present time, and this has been true for several years, can find a customer for any property which he has to dispose of."

"There was a time when it was said against Brooklyn that it was easy to buy property there but hard to dispose of it."

"All that has changed," answered Mr. McMahon. "Property does not need to go begging in Brooklyn I assure you."

"Let me ask your opinion as to the probability of a long continuance of activity in real estate on the present basis of values."

"There may be some little reaction in the Bronx, but taking the city as a whole there need in my opinion be no fear of a recession in values in the near future. There is a sentiment among people of moderate means," continued Mr. McMahon, "that real estate is the best investment."

This was said in a tone which led the hearer to believe that the eminent banker who watches over the savings of so many thousands of people quite agreed with the sentiment.

"Certainly those who put their money in real estate are not tempted to put it in Wall Street and risk burning their fingers; while those who have lost money in Wall Street generally wish they had put it in real estate. I have noticed," said Mr. McMahon, with a reminiscent look in his face, "that the men who have been successful in life, and those who having made money have kept it, have largely been those who have put it in real estate.

"With perhaps the exception of some few localities where speculation may have been overdone, I certainly consider that present values will remain and continue to advance in the future, and the reason of all reasons, is the marvelous growth of our city, exceeding at the present time one hundred thousand annually. Brooklyn and Long Island values I know are bound to go higher."

VIEWS OF THE BOWERY SAVINGS BANK.

Mr. Henry A. Schenck, Comptroller of the Bowery Savings Bank, said:

"We are ready to make loans on well located property, and have been for some months past. In fact we are seeking desirable loans. We will not loan ninety per cent. of value, neither eighty nor even seventy per cent., neither will we loan sixty per cent. of inflated values; but any one who presents an application for loan of sixty per cent of a conservative valuation will receive prompt and courteous attention.

"At this time of the year deposits in savings banks do not increase to any great extent, and unless a bank has investments maturing, or loans paid off, they are not apt to have large sums of money to invest. Nevertheless, nearly all the savings banks keep a sufficient fund on hand to take advantage of any good mortgage loans that may be offered.

"It is true that of late the mortgage loan market has been quiet; but this is easily accounted for. Borrowers who wish to place mortgages on their property did so before July 1st, as they realized that after that date, on account of the Mortgage Tax Law, they would have to pay one-half per cent. advance. Since that period rates have increased to this extent, and consequently, comparatively few loans have been applied for. Borrowers are slowly realizing that there is no escape from paying the advance, and are beginning to adjust themselves to the new conditions. The demand for loans is becoming more active and we have no doubt will continue slowly to improve.

A REACTION IMPROBABLE.

"As to our views in regard to real estate values in this city, it hardly seems probable that there will be any reaction. The march of progress seems to be onward. The new tunnel terminals, the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.'s depot, the New York Central improvements, the new bridges, the Subway and the proposed East Side extension, will all have a tendency to increase rather than diminish values.

"As a further evidence of the progress of the town, note the Crosstown Line on Grand Street. No longer do ye hear the tinkle of the cowbells as the horsecars go by! No longer do we see the poor, jaded horses wending their weary way across the city, slipping and sliding over the greasy pavements and well worn tracks! These are all now things of the past; the swift moving and roomy electric cars, and the music of the motorman's gong, are delightful substitutes. Who knows but perhaps the same change will some day take place on the Canal Street and Prince Street lines, and possibly some persons now living may even see the same transformation in the old Belt Line that now skirts the city. When this occurs, New York can no longer be considered a provincial town, and will take its place shoulder to shoulder with some of her more progressive sisters of the West.

"To prove that some people have great faith in future values in this city, we might add that it is the custom in this bank, when depositors withdraw unusually large sums, to ask them if they would mind telling us what disposition they intend to make of their money. Usually they are quite willing to give the information, and in nearly every case the reply is, real estate! They are buying property in the Bronx, in Brooklyn, or are reducing their mortgages on Manhattan property. These people are shrewd, and their judgment seldom fails.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Chief Croker Speaks

ON THE FIREPROOF WOOD QUESTION—AGREES WITH THE ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS THAT THEY SHOULD NOT BE COMPELLED TO USE IT.

Though no date for a hearing has yet been appointed, and no report from the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen on the Ware amendment striking out of Section 105 of the Building Code the mandatory provision for fireproof wood, it is now believed that action of some kind will be taken before a new administration is inaugurated. The aldermen realize the strength of the public feeling in favor of the amendment, but say that the pressure of other business has prevented their giving attention to the subject. No opposition to the measure has publicly appeared. Architects, builders, the insurance interests, the Board of Examiners real estate interests, even one of the three or four fireproofing companies affected, the fire department and every authority in building construction we know of—all are unitedly desirous or in favor of the repeal.

Chief Engineer Edward F. Croker, of the Fire Department, the recognized highest authority on fighting fires in the United States, added his testimony against the compulsory provision this week when he said to the writer:

"What little wood, treated or untreated, is used for trim in fireproof buildings makes very little difference, if any, in case of fire, especially when taken in consideration with the large amount of office furniture—the carpets, desks, tables, shelves, cases—and the books and papers contained in such buildings

"What does the little wood in those door jams and that baseboard amount to in comparison with all the furniture in this room, for instance," asked the Chief, looking around him.

"Considering that the treated as well as the untreated wood in a room is covered with several coats of inflammable varnish, the fire is carried along as readily in one case as the other."

"Mr. Croker, considering that the amendment to the Code will require that hard wood, such as oak, mahogany and maple, which at best burns slowly, shall invariably be used in a high building, do you not think that a solid hardwood door offers a fair barrier to the passage of fire to another room, or at any rate is slow burning enough to hold fire a sufficient time to enable the firemen to reach the building and handle the fire?"

"Yes, I do," answered the Chief, and with the standpipes, hose and other fire apparatus with which a fireproof building is equipped and a passenger elevator kept ready for the use of the department during all hours, night and day, including Sundays and holidays, I would consider that ample provision has been made for the fire department to successfully cope with a fire in any building where all these provisions have been made.

"But the only way to make a building fireproof," added Mr. Croker," is to build it of non-inflammable materials from the foundation up to the skylight, and permit only fireproof furniture to go in it. And the less oil and paint used in a building which it is desired to be fireproof the better."

BUILDING NOTES

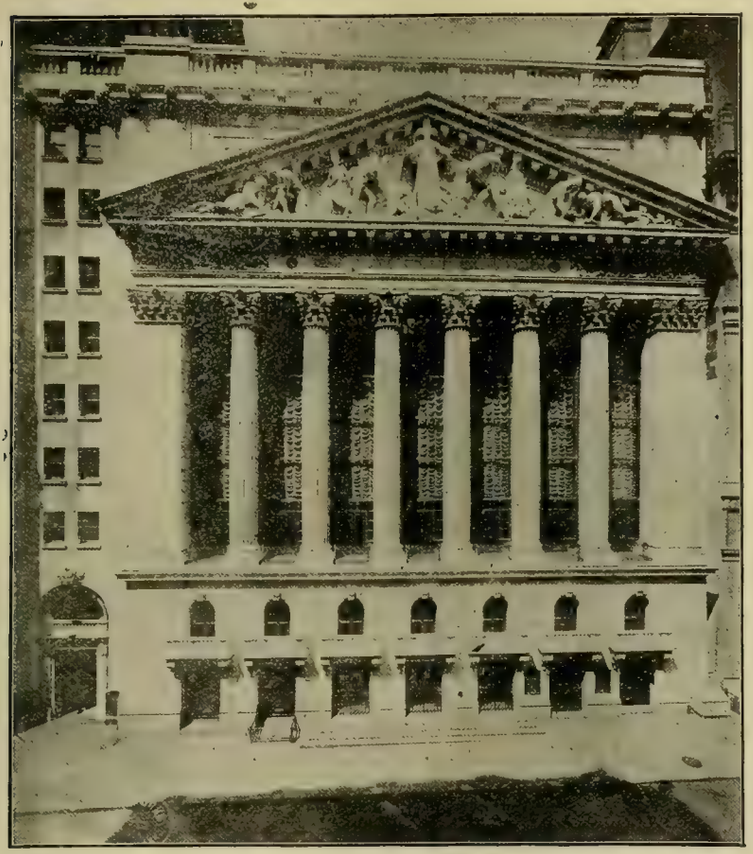
Messrs. Reiley & Steinback, architects, No. 481 Fifth av, are making plans for some new model residences.

The metropolitan builders have their eye on their "rantankerous friends-from-up-the-river," the brick men, whose prices continue to ascend.



During the coming winter the inspectors of masonry for the Building Bureau will be vigilant in preventing violations of Section 28 of the code, Superintendent Hopper having issued special orders to that effect; and it is safe to say that there will not be another downfall of building next spring.

Drawing materials are now used so extensively that there is a firm which makes a specialty of this class of merchandise. At the warerooms of E. G. Soltmann, 125 East 42d st, next to the Grand Central station, an enormous variety of drafting supplies is kept in stock, so that, if necessary, an entire drafting office can be fitted up at a day's notice. Price lists of drawing materials, also samples of drawing paper, blue print paper, etc., are sent out by this firm upon request.

The Architectural League of New York has issued circulars for its forthcoming twenty-first annual exhibition. This will open at the Fine Arts building on Sunday, February 4, 1906, and will continue through Saturday, February 24. The annual press view will be held on Friday, February 2, the annual dinner the evening of that day, and the League reception on Saturday, February 3, at 8 p. m. The usual competitions for the gold and silver medals and the President's and Henry O. Avery prizes are announced.

Because it was deemed too indefinite, and, indeed, wasteful, the contract between the city and the Pennsylvania Steel Company has been annulled by the Supreme Court. Paragraph 254 of the specifications provides that a large part of the superstructure, some 8,000 tons, may be of either high carbon steel or of nickel steel. The court said: "It is established that there is a large difference in the present price of these alternative materials, amounting in my opinion, from the evidence, to close to $200,000. What justification is offered for such an unsatisfactory and costly method of specification?" ?

At this season of the year alterations may at any time be interrupted by a sudden cold spell, and where any walls are to be lined the Compo-Board sold by E. G. Soltmann's Compo-Board Department, at 125 East 42d st, will help the builder out of his difficulty. These boards are made in sheets 4x8, 4x9, 4x10, 4x12, 4x14 and 4x16 ft., and as they are only one-quarter of an inch thick they can be nailed directly to the studding, and if subsequently papered, the appearance is practically the same as that of a plastered wall or ceiling. An additional advantage lies in the fact that a ceiling lined with Compo-Board can never fall.

THIS illustrates the New York Stock Exchange, of which Mr. Geo. B. Post was the architect. From the viewpoints of architectural beauty, solidity of construction and up-to-date equipment, it ranks among the first of its kind in the world. Among the artistic features of this remarkable building, the art metal work, consisting of stairways, railings, gates and window frames and sashes of iron, finished in Duplex Bronze Plate, all manufactured by the Hecla Iron Works, stand out boldly as master specimens of the artisan in metal.

The Hecla Iron Works is recognized as the first and foremost concern in the manufacture of Architectural Metal Work in the World. Its plant is the largest and most complete, and the quality of its work is considered the standard, the world over.

John N. Dyer & Son, of 410 East 92d st, agents for the Maine & New Hampshire Granite Co., have secured some very large contracts for their various granite, among which there are, the granite for Marshal Field & Co.'s buildings, which will be their red granite, the County Court House of Pittsburgh, to which they will supply their white granite. They are also supplying their red granite for the Soldiers' Mounment in Pittsburgh, and their white granite for the Wilson residence at 17 East 67th st. They are also supplying all of the granite for the Italian gardens and park at Harrisburgh, Penn., where their red granite will be used.

One of the busiest engineers in the country these days is E. C. Bingham, chief engineer of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, and the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia. Mr. Bingham has been chief engineer of the Waldorf-Astoria for many years, and when the management of this hotel decided to build the magnificent structure in Philadelphia, he was called in for consultation on the mechanical and electrical equipment. Because of his minute acquaintance with the latest and best devices and machinery for use in up-to-date hostelries, the Bellevue-Stratford is credited with having one of the best and most modern equipment of its kind in the country. And now that the hotel is finished, not so much as a nail can be driven in it without his sanction. Among the various devices specified by Mr. Bingham for use in this building were 33 double gear door hangers and locks made by the Reliance Ball Bearing Door Hanger Co., 1 Madison av, New York.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Baragain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

November 17, 18, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

ONE of the most noticeable features of the real estate market during the past week has been the considerable number of private dwellings which have been reported sold. These dwellings, while situated in all parts of the city, have as usual been located in most instances to the east or southeast of Central Park; and time only confirms the popularity of that region as the neighborhood particularly of handsome individual residences. The demands for such buildings is so good at present that there is likely to be a revival of interest in this class of improvement on the part of builders. Indeed the records for the year now drawing to a close indicate the existence already of a much livelier interest in private residences. Last year plans were filed for 61 private dwellings to be erected in Manhattan at a cost of $2,014,500, while the corresponding figures for 1903 were 56 residences to be erected at an estimated cost of $2,881,000. During the current year on the other hand, plans have already been filed for 86 private dwellings, which are estimated to cost some $4,022,000. The increase is not very considerable, and the totals do not compare with those of 1901 and 1902; but it shows a tendency towards improvement; and there is every reason to believe that this tendency will gather headway during 1906. There is, however, very little indication of any revival in the construction of low-priced dwellings. Plans have been filed for only two rows of dwellings to be built on Washington Heights—twenty-nine buildings in all—while during the same period about $30,000,000 has been invested in tenements in the same section. It should be added that of the higher priced dwellings, very few are being erected for sale by speculative builders; and their construction consequently will not add to the stock of expensive houses, which are being offered for sale. That stock has been very much reduced of late, and doubtless during the coming year something will be done to replenish it.

THE purchase by the New York and New Jersey Tunnel Company of three lots in the plot which it requires for its terminal at Broadway and 33d st, indicates that the company proposes to carry out its plans, in spite of the opposition of the property owners, and presumably it will succeed in doing so, even though it is involved thereby in prolonged litigation. But in any event the property will cost the company considerably higher prices than those at which it has been valued by the corporations' appraisers, and it follows that in order to get this money back, the company will be obliged to use the property which it is acquiring to the very best advantage. But how can the property be used to the very best advantage? This is a question in which the other property-owners of the neighborhood are vitally interested, and the answer to which they will await with the liveliest interest. There is, of course, every reason to believe that the trolley company will arrange for the improvement of the land it buys with something more than a station. All that it needs for terminal purposes is the space below the street levels and just as down-town it is proposing to build sky-scrapers above its train-shed, so up-town it will adopt some similar means of making its expensive investments in real estate pay. Furthermore it looks as if, between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the trolley company, the whole block between 32d and 33d sts, Broadway and 7th ave would be occupied below the surface by railroad tracks; and on this part of its property the Pennsylvania also will not need for the traffic purposes to build above the surface. Its actual station will be erected on the west side of Seventh ave; and the land on the east side is only needed so as to have sufficient room to distribute its tracks. Consequently, inasmuch as the two companies are co-operating, the whole block described above will be available for some kind of big building; and the future development of the neighborhood will depend to some extent on the kind of big building it will be.

IT would seem as if this site could not be used except for one of two purposes. It is a matter either of a huge place of amusement or of a department store; and of the two a department store possesses apparently the best chance of being a remunerative enterprise. By virtue of its railroad connection this block would become more accessible for more people than any other block in Manhattan. The tunnel to Long Island will put it in immediate connection with the population served by the Long Island Railroad. The Pennsylvania and the trolley tunnels will make it peculiarly convenient to the suburban residents of New Jersey. The Subway across 34th st will connect with the longitudinal tunnels which have been or will be built in Manhattan, and it looks furthermore as if Subways will be constructed both on Broadway and Seventh ave—connecting, that is, with both ends of the block. A site which has been rendered as convenient as this will be from all parts of New York and its neighborhood would be wasted, unless it were used for some enterprise depending upon the support, of as many people as possible; and such an enterprise could not be anything but a department store or a place of amusement. But what purveyor of amusement could use such an enormous areas. New York already has a Madison Square Garden and a Hippodrome, and these two enterprises could not be duplicated without ruinous competition. On the other hand, before the railroads will have their new termini in full operation, New York will have added six or seven hundred thousand people to its population, and will be in a position to support another department store as large as any now in existence. The possibilities and advantages of such a use of the site are so obvious that, if our premises concerning the intentions of the railroad companies are correct, it seems almost inevitable that this most accessible of all sites would be used for the sort of business enterprise, which depends upon the support of a larger number of people than any other. The Hippodrome attracts at the most 10,000 people a day, whereas a big department store attracts 50,000.

IT is generally admitted that trust companies are working a revolution in American banking. The trust company is the logical evolution of the bank, but the former's advantages are not as well known or as widely understood as they should be. The trust company is an admirably organized institution. It combines under one roof many departments under highly specialized management, offering to its customers banking transfer, real estate, bond, trust and foreign departments, thus uniting the functions of a bank and the functions of an incorporated trustee. Another distinguishing feature is that in many instances it permits customers to participate in the profits of the corporation. Last year the trust companies in the State of New York distributed in dividends to their stockholders upwards of nine million and a half dollars. Depositors also received in interest the sum of twenty-six million dollars. Thus depositors without the responsibilities of management share in the successful business of the trust company and have a profound interest in its progress. As regards a real estate department in a trust company the practice in New York differs somewhat from that of some Western cities. In New York nearly every trust company has a greater or lesser volume of real estate business but the management of such property in order to obtain the best results for clients is frequently turned over to real estate agents, brokers and firms of the highest standing and experience. This rule does not apply to matters of minor detail which may be looked after directly from the company's office. The president and executive officers of the company naturally exercise a direct supervision over all such property, giving their special instructions to agents and brokers in whose hands it may be placed. The Western Trust Company's method, regarding real estate as exemplified by the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, is to have a regularly equipped real estate department with appraisers, salesmen and rent collectors and thus avoid the necessity of seeking outside assistance in the management of the real property belonging to an estate in the trust company's hands. Many officers of New York trust companies conceive that conditions in such cities as St. Louis may require such a highly specialized department that experience proves in New York, owing to the expert and efficient manner in which real estate business in conducted, it would in no way be beneficial either to the company or its customers.

IT has been announced that Mr. Lawrence Veiller has been elected 2d Vice-President and a Director of the Allied Real Estate Interests. Mr. Veiller has also been appointed a member of the Executive Committee. This accession to what may perhaps be called the Management of the Allied Real Estate interests is of more than personal importance, for Mr. Veiller, as is well known, is uncommonly well acquainted with both Legislative matters and Legislative methods. The Allied Real Estate Interests could not have added anyone to their Directorate who could be of greater service to them. His election as Vice-President means that the association will adopt extremely vigorous methods in its fight for the repeal of the Mortgage Tax Law. It looks as if the real estate interests of New York had finally developed an organization which is equal to the task of representing them at Albany and which will gradually make impossible any further example of that sort of legislation, of which the Mortgage Tax Law is the most conspicuous and baleful example.

The End of Fire-Proofed Wood.

THE Board of Aldermen have passed the resolution, rescinding the provision of the Building Code, requiring the use of fire-proofed wood in all buildings over 150 feet in height, and inasmuch as there is no reason to suppose that the mayor will not approve this action, it looks as if the building industry of New York was about to be emancipated from the burden of this restriction. This is a result which may be well received with feelings of profound satisfaction. It was a mistake ever to have incorporated such a provision in the law; and the best way to recognize a mistake is to undo it. The reasons which could be urged against any legal requirement in favor of the use of fire-proofed were so strong that in case the movement in favor of its repeal had failed, the failure could have been traced only to the fact that private interests involved were too strong to allow the public interests to prevail.

The modification of this section of the Building Code does not mean any lowering the standard of fire-proofed construction in this City. If it had such a meaning the Record and Guide would never have exerted its influence in favor of the repeal. The plain fact is that fire-proofed wood has had a fair trial, and has failed to justify the claims of its advocates. We are, of course, far from asserting that at a sufficient expense wood cannot be treated so that its inflammability will be very much reduced; but this admission is far from justifying the compulsory use of fire-proofed wood in buildings over a certain height. Experts are agreed that the amount of wood used in the finish of buildings, the walls, floors and windows of which are thoroughly fire-proofed is not a source of danger. A man, consequently, if he is building a sky-scraper has no ordinary business inducement to have his wood fire-proofed. His engineer would not advise it; and his rate of insurance would not be reduced because of it. He has used it only because the law obliged him to do so; and this circumstance alone is sufficient to condemn the law. Fire-proofed wood is not a material of standard and recognized merit like hollow brick or wire glass. It is a material which has been for the most part manufactured in order to enable builders to meet the provisions of the law; and as the builders themselves had no confidence in the value of the fire-proofing, they naturally bought the wood which had undergone the least possible amount of fire-proofing. In this way, whatever value the material possessed, was reduced to the minimum, and abundant opportunities were offered to evade the law, while ostensibly conforming to it.

The repeal of the restriction, consequently will do nothing to make fire-proofed buildings more inflammable, while at the same time it will reduce the cost of fire-proof construction. Even the cause of fire-proofed wood itself will be benefited rather than injured by the repeal, because if the material has any value, it will win its way without any legal enactment in its favor. It is the purpose of a Building Code to register achieved results in the way of safe construction. It should have nothing to do with experiments in new materials of doubtful value; and to make the consumer pay the cost of such experiments is an outrage, which should never have been perpetrated, and will not we trust be perpetrated again. But even if fire-proofed wood had justified the most sanguine claims of its advocates, it is of no substantial benefit to a building which is in other respects thoroughly fire-proofed; and a much better argument could be made in favor of its compulsory use for the beams, floors and studding of the ordinary tenement house.

That the movement in favor of repeal has been successful is doubtless due to the fact that everybody interested in the matter pulled together in order to accomplish the result. Builders, architects, experts and newspapers all of them used their influence in order to accomplish the repeal of the restriction; and no better illustration could be offered of the value of united effort in order to obtain a necessary reform. If the building and real estate interests will co-operate as heartily in favor of the repeal of the mortgage tax, that flagrantly unjust burden will also assuredly be removed.

Mr. Poulson and the Bridge Commissionership.

A report is current in Brooklyn that in the event of Mr. Hearst being declared elected, President N. Poulson, of the Hecla Iron Works, will be appointed Bridge Commissioner. The well-known iron master, being a Brooklynite, as well as an expert engineer who has had experience in connection with laying out traffic terminals, has taken a citizen's interest in the movement for improving the facilities at the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge, and has made suggestions from time to time which have been found of value. Having no thought of his own interests, but purely a patriotic motive, he is surprised that he should be suggested for such a place, though no one will question his eminent qualifications. Mr. Poulson has written to the Hon. Bird S. Coler, President-elect of the Borough of Brooklyn, the following letter on the subject:

Hon. Bird S. Coler, President-elect of the Borough of Brooklyn:

Dear Sir—In last night's paper I saw that my name is being mentioned as a possible Bridge Commissioner, and I therefore hasten to call your attention to the fact that, even if such an honorable position were offered to me, I would not be able to accep it, as my business training has not been in that direction. The Bridge Commissioner ought to be a good, broad-minded, business man, one who is not hampered with plans of his own to solve the barbarous conditions now existing at the New York terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge, and he should by all means be a Brooklyn man. I will gladly assist whoever is appointed and give him the benefit of my experience to aid him in overcoming the present disgraceful conditions at the New York terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge. To yourself, as president-elect of the Borough of Brooklyn, to whom the people of Brooklyn are now looking for bridge relief, I would be pleased to offer my assistance, especially as you, of your own accord, came here to the Hecla Iron Works to personally investigate plans suggesting ways to overcome the present difficulties. I think I made it clear to you that relief can be had in a few weeks at no great expense—not over $25,000.

The Bridge Department is now making alterations on a line which I proposed several years ago, namely, additional stairs, additional platforms for mezzanine and hanging platforms for the elevated service, but that will not give much relief, as the passengers will still have to fight their way into a train in an unreasonably short time; but if, in addition to what is now being done, the tracks and the platforms in the building itself are arranged as I showed you, there would not only be more platform space than they will have now, but the time for passengers to board and leave the cars will be increased more than fourfold. That is, with the present system the passengers stand on a platform waiting for a four-car train to come, which, according to Commissioner Best's own statement, can sometimes stop only 15 seconds, and hence the scrambling and fighting to enter the train; while, with the proposed system, there will always be three six-car trains, 18 cars, standing still 3 minutes 20 seconds waiting for the passengers to enter them, and there cannot, therefore, be any confusion and scrambling, and, as these are six-car trains as against the present four-car trains, the trains will not be so unreasonably crowded as they are now. It will not be necessary to change cars at the Brooklyn terminal to climb stairs and wait and fight again to get into the Brooklyn trains, as all trains will be through trains in the rush hours as well as in the non-rush hours.

The only objection the Bridge Department now raises to a plan like what I have proposed is that Commissioner Best and Chief Engineer Nichols say that only 40 trains can be handled per hour as against 60 trains now. If that were a fact then, of course, the plan would be useless; but I think I clearly illustrated to you that not only can 60 trains be run per hour, but 90 trains can be run per hour, and no train need move any faster in the terminal than it does now; and if you think it is worth the while to convince Commissioner Best and Mr. Nichols, I do not think that in your presence it would take more than fifteen minutes to convince them that they are wrong in their assertion that only 40 trains can be run per hour with the proposed system; and as soon as that is knocked out there is nothing to hinder giving relief to the elevated passengers in a few weeks. Yours truly,

N. POULSON.

REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES

Mr. Barney Says There is More Disposition to Loan on Real Estate Than Heretofore

RECENTLY indications of what seems to be a settled purpose on the part of certain Wall Street interests to dethrone real estate from popular favor have been discerned. Statements not very clear, but to the general effect that conservative lending institutions are retiring from the mortgage loan market, and that a marked recession of values is imminent, are appearing. Efforts to find among lending institutions any who are declining to take good mortgages on real estate have, however, proved futile; the only anxiety of "trust companies and savings banks," who have been mentioned in a prominent journal as among the lending institutions who were "retiring from the mortgage loan market," is that they do not receive as many applications for loans as they would like.

Mr. Charles T. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, a high authority in both real estate and finance, when asked by the Record and Guide for his observations and opinions, said: [The capitals are ours.]

"I can only say that the Knickerbocker Trust Company is a great believer in real estate mortgages and carries a line of four or five million dollars for the benefit of ourselves, our trusts, and our depositors.

"As I understand, there is more disposition now to loan on real estate than there has been. I do not imagine that the banks pay much attention to real estate values. Personally, I think the chances of making money therein are as good in SOME localities as ever. But I think they would have to be CAREFULLY selected, as is always natural after a rise.

"Opportunities always exist. Sometimes, however, IT REQUIRES MORE JUDGMENT to tell where they are, as is, perhaps, the case at present. But I do not think that anywhere in the city has there been a boom that can be considered dangerous.

A NARROWER RANGE OF VALUES HEREAFTER.

"The greater accessibility of outlying property will, in the future, prevent the wide range of values that existed in the past, and I think will make them much narrower hereafter.

"Should the apartment houses which are now being built on the West Side, for instance, be easily filled on completion, I think, so far as that neighborhood is concerned, that there will be a very great demand for vacant property in the Spring, as that question will have been solved by that time, if it has not already been solved."

PLENTY OF MONEY FOR GOOD LOANS.

President Augustus B. Carrington, of the Manhattan Mortgage Company, said:

"Our company does not sell many mortgages to institutions, and we are not in a position to know whether they have stopped loaning on real estate; to some extent the statistics published in the Record and Guide during November confirm the claim that they have. But the Title Guarantee & Trust Company which has sold over forty million dollars of mortgages in the past six months states that it has plenty of money for good loans. My information is that institutions and trustees have shown a strong tendency lately to invest in guaranteed mortgages and that the mortgage guaranty companies are doing a good business.

"The prices of vacant lots in Manhattan and the Bronx have in my opinion been inflated considerably—in some cases as much as twenty-five per cent. But I do not look for any marked recession. About eighty per cent. of the last price is represented by mortgages. Real estate speculators are slow to take a loss voluntarily, and cannot be foreclosed quickly. I believe that most of them will carry their holdings until the natural increase of values brings the market values up to cost. The natural effect of inflation in prices of vacant lots will be to restrict building somewhat. If this happens it will not be an unmixed evil. The prevailing opinion among lenders is that in some sections the construction of new flats and tenements is in excess of present requirements."

The City's Financial Transactions.

Comptroller Edward M. Grout has issued Volume I of the report of the Department of Finance of the City of New York for the year ending December 31, 1903. This is the second annual report on the new plan formulated under the direction of Mr. Grout, and under which his first annual report for the year 1902 was published. In explanation of the time intervening between the close of the year under review and the stated date of the report, Comptroller Grout says:

"The work of re-stating the accounts of the city upon the lines of this report and its immediate predecessor—which are radical departures from the arrangement and form of expression of previous reports—has occupied considerable time and occasioned corresponding delay in their publication, but the difficulties attending this new departure are gradually being overcome, and in time these annual reports will be ready for publication within a comparatively brief period after the close of the fiscal year dealt with."

The presentation of the annual report of the Department of Finance in two volumes was determined upon by Comptroller Grout by reason of the unusually large book which resulted from publishing the full digest of the accounts of 1902 in a single volume, and also because of the advantage which attaches to the bringing of all the leading facts within the compass of a medium sized book. Volume I consists of a series of tables and statements giving a succinct presentation of all the salient facts of the city's financial transactions for the year 1903, treated in such a manner as to give a concise and comprehensive view of the operations of the city treasury and its sinking funds. In several of these tables and statements there are set against the figures of 1903 the corresponding figures of 1902, thus affording a direct comparison of the one year's income and outgo with the other.

The opening summary on page 1 sets forth the total cash receipts and disbursements for 1903, together with those of the year preceding aligned in parallel columns, arranged under classifications so as to show at once the sources from which the city draws its revenue and the cause of its expenditure. From this table many valuable comparative facts can be readily ascertained, such as that the outlay for public undertakings during the year 1903 amounted to $72,209,325.37, as against $45,265,922.36 for the previous year; that the redemption of the principal of the city debt was $92,652,000, as compared with $67,589,000 in 1902, and that the receipts from all kinds of miscellaneous revenue collectible by the city were $19,083,790.82 in 1903, as compared with $17,403,725.81 in 1902. The enormous increase in the business of the Comptroller's office is to some extent indicated by the comparative total figures of actual cash receipts and payments during the years 1902 and 1903. The receipts for 1903 are stated at $256,909,100.35, while those of 1902 were $199,550,048.33, and the payments in 1903 amounted to $253,566,028.29, as compared with $201,126,577.74 in 1902, an increase of about 25 per cent.

This exhibit of the city's cash transactions is a veritable primer of its source of income and cause of expenditure, and an admirable example of accounting conciseness. The primary tables (six in number) are lucid summaries of the entire financial operations of the city treasury and the sinking funds, which, together with the statements giving further details, will doubtless be appreciated by everyone interested in obtaining a general knowledge of the character and amount of the city's receipts and expenditures. It has been Comptroller Grout's purpose to so clarify the accounting system of the City of New York as to enable him to make a clear and intelligible presentation of its enormous annual financial transactions, and in this he has admirably succeeded.

New Jersey Municipal Bonds.

Good investments are in great demand, and savings banks are continually on the lookout for investments that come within their scope. Some savings banks are extremely anxious to obtain municipal bonds, while the tendency among others is to avoid this field of investments. As Newark, Camden and Trenton municipal bonds are legal investments for New York savings banks, the annexed table, which exhibits the lowest basis on which long-time bonds of ten leading cities of New Jersey have sold in the last five years, affords an interesting comparison:

| | Pop. '05. | '01. | '02. | '03. | '04. | '05. |

How to Make Commissions

BY MINTURN POST COLLINS, President of the Bankers' Investing Co.

THE amount of confidence, gentlemen,* that a buyer has to place in his broker, is becoming greater and greater. Let us take, for example, the recent purchase in the Bronx of several entire blocks of vacant land, comprising 165 lots. This property was purchased by a man who looked at the property for the first time at 11 o'clock in the morning (and by the way, this man had never bought any property in the Bronx before in his life), and two hours afterwards he had bought over ten acres of vacant lots. This man told me the following day that he did not know what the property was worth, but that he left it to his broker, who advised him to take it. Before an hour had passed, he was offered $12,000 for his contract, and before twenty-four hours had gone by, he was asked if he would take $25,000 profit, which he also declined. From prices obtained by the Century Realty Co. at the recent auction sale of the Bruner estate lots in the same locality, it is estimated that this property is worth at least $50,000 more than Mr. Townsend paid for it.

That broker did not fool his client—he made a commission of over $2,000; will probably make another commission in reselling the property, and many more commissions through the same client, as the latter is a comparatively young man, and is convinced that New York real estate is a better investment than the uncertainties of Wall Street. How was that commission made?

An auction sale of property across the street to take place the following day. Broker hears Monday night, property can be bought—looks at it himself next morning, Election Day. Goes over the property thoroughly—likes the lay of the land and location—brings his client up the next day to see it, and makes the deal within 48 hours after he heard the property was in existence.

Never stick your customers for the sake of a commission—it dosn't pay. Better to lose the commission ten times over. Build up a reputation for honesty and truthfulness. Never make a wrong statement, and never give an opinion as to the value of a piece of property you do not know. Say you will investigate it, and let your client know. If you go wrong in your appraisal, it destroys confidence, and if you make incorrect and inaccurate statements, you soon ruin your reputation, for your word and judgment cannot be relied upon. Build up your credit. Don't destroy it.

Lead your buyers—don't try to drive them. Show them the merits of the property and its possibilities. Never force your sellers, but appeal to their good judgment—remind them that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." If it is necessary to sell, or if they want to settle an estate, or make a change in their investments, ask them if it is not better to sell now, even though the offer may be a comparatively low one, than to run the risk of loosing an opportunity to sell, simply because they are in hopes that some one may come along and pay a trifle more. Remember that real estate's greatest drawback is the difficulty in quickly converting property into cash.

Be tactful, diplomatic. When both parties are present, do not favor one side more than the other. Do not borrow trouble; let the two contracting parties adjust as far as possible whatever difficulties that may arise, and then smooth out any remaining point. Keep friendly with all. Don't rub the wrong way, but pull with your party.

PATIENCE AND PERSEVERANCE.

Work your deals to a finish as speedily as possible; but never show impatience if your buyer wants to postpone his decision until his architect or builder has an opportunity to examine the property, but make the appointment for the architect, and prove to your buyer that you are studying his interests, and if he should not buy that particular piece of property, he will, in nine cases out of ten, ask you to look up another piece of property for him, and so you not only make your commission, but add another name to your list of buyers for the future. It is remarkable how one sale leads to another. This same buyer may buy a house for his son or daughter about to be married, or he may invest some of his wife's money in good income producing real estate, or he may recommend your firm to his relative or friend who is looking for a home or a safe investment. Learn to listen attentively to your client's views and opinions, even if you do not always agree with him; don't contradict him unless important that you do so, but make him feel he's a good fellow.

Persevere, keep at it, stick to it with a bulldog grip. Learn to love your work and then you'll find yourself working twelve hours a day—nearly twice as long as many men work. For many brokers arrive at their offices at 9.30 in the morning, take luncheon from 1 to 2, and go home at 5, making their business day six and a half hours long; only three and a half hours in the morning, and three hours in the afternoon. Those of you who were members of the class last year, may remember how one of the speakers described his success in life as due to the fact that he worked from 6 o'clock in the morning until bedtime.

Be sure not to mislead yourself in thinking that you are working when in reality you are only killing time. Work not only with your hands, but with your brain, and work hard. No one can achieve success to-day without hard work and tireless energy. The competition in all lines is far greater than in the past, and it is only the hustler to-day who keeps abreast of the band-wagon. If a buyer or seller puts you off, be sure to part with him in such a way that you can follow him up later on, for the buyer will surely buy and the owner will sell some day. Many brokers fall down because they exhaust their ammunition, and fail to follow up their game to the finish.

An instance of this happened the other day, in the case of the sale of the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 69th street. Both East Side and West Side brokers showed a buyer houses about a year ago, at which time he did not find anything to suit him. The brokers forgot all about him, and now he steps to the front and buys a residence, the asking price of which was $125,000, and sad to relate, for the East Side broker, the very same house was on his books.

Keep a complete list of all your buyers and tenants constantly before you, and if impossible to see each one frequently, write to them every now and then, offering the new properties which have since come in the market, or which you think the most likely to suit your client's needs. Persevere and never let up until your buyer has bought or your owner has sold.

In order to make commissions, you must have property to handle. How can one find property for sale? The first thing to do is to walk through the street and make a memoranda of all properties with signs "For Sale" or "To Let." Another good way is to take note of all the dilapidated buildings; those that are poorly rented and half empty, and consequently cannot bring their owners a satisfactory income. Most of these buildings the owners would be only too glad to sell. Still another way is to look through the advertisement columns of the daily papers; not only one paper, but all the papers; for, owing to the cost of advertising, many owners will use only one paper at a time, and you are likely to lose a commission for failing to see a cheap parcel advertised.

Keep track of the withdrawals of property offered at auction. These properties are pressed for sale, and can usually be sold at private contract. Keep a record of all deaths of property owners, and learn from their executors whether the property belonging to their estates will be for sale. If you see a sale of estate property reported in the Record and Guide, ascertain at once if the same estate has not more real estate for sale.

*From an address delivered before the Real Estate Class of Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday, November 21st, 1905.

The Real Estate Department of the Union Trust Company.

The Union Trust Company of New York, at 80 Broadway, New York, is one of the oldest established of these institutions. Its standing is of the highest and it numbers among the trustees men of international financial reputation. Its capital is a million dollars and its surplus nearly eight millions. Mr. Carroll C. Rawlings, the trust officer of the corporation, was interviewed by a Record and Guide representative as to the real estate and kindred departments in trust companies. Mr. Rawlings said:

"The business of estates in the Union Trust Company is administered by the company in various fiduciary capacities. We are authorized to act as executor, administrator, guardian, receiver or trustee, and the company is a legal depository. We attend also specially to the management of real estate and to the collection and remittance of rents. In taking charge of such property where the exigencies of the case require it in any given trust, we sell or lease, as may be necessary. The initiative action in all such matters is taken and exercised from the office of the company under the general supervision of its president—in short everything centres here in this office.

"Our trust department comprises a division wherein all records relating to real estate matters are kept, including leases, contracts, appraisals, tax documents and insurance policies. The Union Trust Company employs as its general real estate agent the Cruikshank Co., 140 Broadway, to whom the details of the local administration of the property is confided, of course under the immediate and direct supervision of the Union Trust Company itself.

"I am not familiar," continued Mr. Rawlings, "with the methods pursued by Western trust companies in regard to real estate, and cannot express an opinion as to whether a similar system as to having a completely equipped real estate department should be adopted by New York trust companies. Of course in New York every trust company has its own way of doing business, and is a law unto itself. I find, however, that our method answers our purpose and gives satisfaction to our clients."

The Labor Situation.

Hereafter concrete fireproofing blocks as well as hollow tile blocks for fireproofing will be set in this city only by regular bricklayers. Until now concrete blocks have not been named in the agreement between the mason contractors and the unions, but the business in concrete blocks having grown to proportions of importance, the regular bricklayers concluded to claim the emoluments to be derived from setting them.

This is the only change in the trade agreement resulting from the recent series of conferences between the plenipotentiaries of the unions and the employers' associations. All the other sections will remain as in the previous treaty, including the wage scale and the stipulation (Section 5) concerning the setting of hollow tile fireproof blocks. This section provides that such work cannot be sublet, and at the final conference assurances were given by the journeymen that this rule would hereafter be rigidly enforced. From this it may be inferred that there have been some unauthorized exceptions in the past. By their act reaffirming Section 5, the metropolitan unions of bricklayers and masons, with one exception, continue in opposition to the mandate of the International Union, which in two general conventions has disapproved of the metropolitan practice in this respect. Anticipating that at the next convention of the members of the International Union charges will be preferred against all but one of the New York unions for disloyalty, these unions have voted to stand together. In the hope that the International body may be prevailed upon to reconsider its former action, they have appointed a committee to prepare a brief setting forth the reasons and necessities by which they are guided and compelled in opposing the orders of the superior body.

In pursuance of this agreement a number of strikes were ordered against contractors who have sublet the installation of fireproofing in violation of Section 5. Some of these contractors are members of the Mason Builders' Association and some are not. Recently the rule had not been strictly enforced, but now the unions say they will enforce it against everybody. Local No. 37 has refused to sign the trade agreement because of this clause, and its members continued at work on buildings where strikes were ordered. It is believed all the cases of violation will be settled quickly by the general contractors taking over the work from the sub-contractors, and some have already done so.

Non-union workmen are being set at work gradually on the jobs of Post & McCord which were abandoned by the housesmiths and bridgemen. The fall of the derrick at one of these jobs on Wednesday night represents, no doubt, the character of the opposition. Efforts for a reconciliation are not relaxed, as the hope is widely entertained that a general stoppage of work in iron erecting may not ensue. The Employers' Association rightly considers itself as a trustee to a certain extent over the interests of owners, and has not been disposed to take extreme measures, which might mean a loss to these owners and to building interests at large, unless driven to extremities with no other alternative. This we know corresponds to the feeling on the matter throughout real estate and building circles.

Architects Selected for Park Place Bank.

PARK PLACE—The Broadway Savings Institution, 23 Park pl, H. S. Hutchinson, president, has commissioned Messrs. York & Sawyer, 156 5th av, as architects to prepare plans for its new bank building to be erected on a plot 31½x75 ft at 5-7 Park pl. The building will be 1-sty, fireproof, and cost about $100,000. ST. NICHOLAS AV.—Plans are being prepared by Messrs. Schwartz & Gross, 35 West 21st st, for a row of five 5-sty flat buildings 36.5x90, and 29x88, for Mr. Hermann Strauss, 73 East 90th st, to be situated on the east side of St. Nicholas av, from 177th to 178th sts, at an estimated cost of about $250,000. ### A Fourth Av. Hotel Improvement.

4TH AV.—The Putnam House, situated on 4th av, the northeast corner, and 26th st, No. 369 4th av, is to be extensively improved and renovated, or an entirely new 8-sty fireproof hotel building will be erected on the site. At this time definite particulars as to what actually will be done with the premises cannot be stated, although the Record and Guide is informed that preliminary sketches for an entirely new building has been submitted by a local architect. Mr. John L. Martin, of 314 Madison av, is the owner. The plot has a frontage of some 82 ft. on the av by about 100 ft on the st.

To Build Church and Parish House.

114TH ST.—The New York City Church Extension and Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 150 Fifth av, has awarded to Walter Reid & Co., 156 5th av, the general contract to build its new church and parish building, 5 stories, 50x100, fireproof, with a 40x70 foot extension, to be situated on the north side of 114th st, 95 ft east of 1st av, at a cost of about $100,000. Contracts have been awarded to Evelyn Pierrpont Roberts, 18 Broadway, for yellow granite; to Barr, Thaw & Frazer, for the Frontenac stone, with which the interior is to be lined, and to Dowd & Maslen, 217 West 125th st, for setting masonry. It was announced at the last meeting of the board of trustees that the method of awarding contracts to individual firms, instead of to a single contractor, was giving satisfaction.

Masonic Temple Addition.

6TH AV, 23D ST.—The Order of Free and Accepted Masons, owner of the Masonic Temple property at the northeast corner of 6th av and 23d st, has not yet taken title to the property abutting the rear of the temple, Nos. 46 to 54 West 24th st, as reported in the daily press. Mr. Frank E. Haff, of No. 128 Broadway, who is a high officer in the order, has assured the Record and Guide that the report is premature. He said it is true however that the order are negotiating for the property and that a 12-sty fireproof building, to be devoted to lodge rooms and offices to connect with the old temple, providing the purchase is made, will be erected, but no plans or architect has been thought of yet.

Milliken Bros. Will Build Their Own Plant.

STATEN ISLAND.—The large steel plant which Messrs. Milliken Bros., 11 Broadway, are about to establish adjacent to their present plant on Staten Island, will consist of seven or eight structures, including furnaces, blooming and finishing mills, each 1-sty in height, of steel and brick construction, which will cost, including the power and machinery equipment, several millions of dollars. The whole work of the preparation of plans, and also the general construction of the buildings will be done by the owners. When interviewed by a Record and Guide representative Mr. Milliken said that a quantity of steel had already been delivered on the site, and operations would be advanced with rapidity. For the machinery equipment of the plant alone nearly one million dollars will be appropriated. The buying will be done from 11 Broadway.

Particulars of the New Bernhardt Theatre.

BROADWAY, 39TH ST.—It is announced that still another theatre building is soon to be erected in Broadway at the northeast corner and 39th st, immediately opposite the Metropolitan Opera House, to be known as the "Sarah Bernhardt," and operated and managed by Messrs. L. and S. S. Shubert, 213 West 42d st. It will be recalled that in January, 1903, plans were drawn by William Steel & Sons, 1600 Arch st, Philadelphia, Pa., and filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings, for a 3-sty brick theatre to cover a plot 75x98.9, at 123 West 39th st, running through with a frontage in Broadway, to cost $175,000. Mr. Felix Isman, 604 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, Pa., was given as the owner. But the matter was indefinitely laid over, and operations did not commence. It is now understood that these plans in all probability will be revised and the original idea carried out.

Theatre for Forty-Second St.

42D-43D STS.—Another theatre, it is said, will be erected in West 42d st. This will be near the Lyric, fronting some 40 ft on 42d st, and running through to 43d st, with a frontage of 100 ft on that st also, covering a plot of about 100x120. Mr. J. M. Flagg, of 76 5th av, who is the head of the building enterprise, when interrogated for the Record and Guide this week, said that although details for the proposed building have not quite been settled, it is true however that a theatre will be erected. Alexander I. Finkle, of 48 White Plains av, Williamsbridge, Bronx, is preparing the plans, which will be arranged to seat about 1,900 people. The building will be three or four stories in height and cost about $800,000, including the land. The Messrs L. & S. S. Shubert, of 213 West 42d st, will be the managers.

BUILDING NOTES

Brick building "snapped" off when the cold wave struck it.

A landlord who fails to provide steam heat in season when his tenants pay for it is contemptible.

Little doing in outside building this week. Rain Tuesday and Wednesday, holiday Thursday, and freezing weather Friday.

It is but voicing a general thought to say that the building trades had more to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day, 1905, than in many years before. But for the ironworkers it might have been virtually a year of peace.

The city authorities state that the Belmont tunnel work under or near East 42d st (as the case may be) is being prosecuted in defiance of municipal authority. Under instructions from the Mayor, the Corporation Counsel is investigating, with a view to applying for an injunction.

Builders are taking the utmost advantage of the continued moderate temperature, and the dealers in material are consequently kept very busy. But for the holiday and the rains of Tuesday and Wednesday this would have been a tremendously pushing week for outside work.

Samuel I. Rockmore, well known as a manufacturer of metal ceilings, and who has recently erected a large plant at Bristol st and Blake av, Brooklyn, has added a new department to his business in the manufacture of fireproof doors and sashes in the latest and most attractive designs. Mr. Rockmore's factory is up-to-date in every branch, and with his constant increase of dies for metal drawn-mouldings, he is prepared to furnish these goods to your own sketches. Estimates for this class of work will be cheerfully furnished on application. Telephone, 894 East New York.

The firm of Toch Brothers, which is composed of Henry M. and Maximilian Toch, and has been in the paint business for 57 years, has removed its wholesale department offices to the Reed & Barton Building at 320 Fifth av, and the department is now occupying a suite of rooms on the seventh floor. The main object of Toch Brothers in making this change was to be located in closer proximity to their works in Long Island City, where all their manufacturing is done. Their retail department will be continued at the old stand, 472 West Broadway, by the Toch Paint Supply Co., of which the younger brother, Frank Toch, is president. Their products, which consist of a full line of paints, varnishes and the R. I. W. Damp Resisting paints, are considered standard by many of the leading architects and engineers throughout the United States.

—Tenants are vacating the site of the McAdoo tunnel terminal in the blocks bounded by Fulton, Cortland, Church and Greenwich sts, and the wrecking companies have begun to clear the site. Two skyscrapers, each twenty stories in height, are to be erected. The frontages are to be on Church st, and one will extend from Fulton to Dey st, while the other will occupy the block between Dey and Cortlandt. The total cost of the two buildings will be about $10,000,000.

The Plague of Words.

(From the New York Tribune.)

President Roosevelt's warning against excessive letter writing in the government service is timely and should be heeded. No one who studies the methods even of private business can fail to be impressed with the tendency to excessive correspondence. In the government service, of course, any such tendency is exaggerated. It falls in with the temper of the bureaucrat, and goes along with the excessive printing of documents and an exaggeration by officials of the importance of the details of their own business.

We hope the President will be a restraining influence on the flood of words both in correspondence and in books, but we fear the times are against him. They offer fatal facilities for verbal exuberance. Books are published to-day in vast numbers, less because authors have anything to say than because printing is easy and cheap and the presses have to be kept at work. So, too, the typewriters click out folio after folio in public offices, not because there is any real reason for that amount of writing, but because the machinery for producing it is at hand. It is an old saying that traffic grows with the facilities for handling traffic, and so words multiply with the facilities for getting them recorded. When all letters had to be written laboriously in long hand they were confined somewhere within the realm of legitimate need. At least useless copies of papers merely incidental to pending matters were not made and transmitted in the mere spirit of red tape. Now it is so easy to have all sorts of things, important and unimportant, clicked off that the bureaucrat cannot resist the temptation. But he is not the only victim of it. Probably every lawyer's office to-day produces more documents in proportion to the actual business transacted than ever before. The courts complain that they are overwhelmed with voluminous records on the appeal of cases of no more importance than those which courts of former days considered with a record of a few brief pages before them.

The stenographer, the typewriter and the printing press are invaluable agents of civilization, but they have their drawbacks. They have inundated us with a plague of words, and we wish that curtailment in the government service could be but the beginning of reform.

Scientists Wondering About It.

Possibly it is the oldest bit of wood in the world. It is about nine inches long and six inches thick, and Columbia College is exceedingly interested in it. So is the Museum of Natural History—and also the Foundation Co. who dug it up last week while putting in the caisson foundations for the new U. S. Express Building on lower Manhattan. The exact circumstances under which it was found are about like these: The bed rock at this point is about 40 feet below the street curb. On top of this bed rock is a strata of boulders and hardpan to a depth of about 11 feet. The material above these boulders and hardpan is quicksand. In putting in the foundations caissons were sunk through the quicksand down into the hardpan, and the excavation then carried through the hardpan to the bed rock. The piece of wood was found on the bed rock and was therefore completely covered by this 11 feet of strata of hardpan and boulders. It is generally understood that this deposit of hardpan and boulders was left by glaciers. Therefore the piece of wood must be of prehistoric age, and possibly is the oldest piece of wood in the world.

The chunk when removed from its bed was soggy and heavy, but in drying out became brittle. The proper authorities at Columbia College are puzzled over its origin and nature, but careful research will be made into all the possible phenomena attending its specie, growth and accident of placement, and then a piece will be given to the Museum of Natural History, and a piece will also be held as a permanent exhibit in the college laboratories.

A Notable Hemlock Grove.

The hemlock grove in Bronx Park was the subject of the opening lecture before the Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences, in the Tremont Carnegie Library, by Dr. N. L. Britton, who is the Director of the Botanical Garden. The Lorillards, who held this land for many years before it was taken for park purposes by the city, carefully protected the woodland and the thanks of the present and of future generations are due them for its preservation. Dr. Britton said in part:

"The hemlock spruce is one of the most beautiful of American evergreen trees, the delicate graceful spread or slight droop of its twigs being quite characteristic of it as compared with its relatives, the firs and true spruces, and the density of its shade is unexcelled. The trunk rises as a noble column, sometimes attaining a height of 110 feet with a diameter just above the base of four feet.

"The Bronx hemlock forest is the most southern aggregation of these trees near the Atlantic seaboard. A few scattered trees and small clumps or groves grow or have grown naturally at other points in the borough, especially along the Bronx river further north; they become plentiful on the sides of valleys and ravines in Westchester county and in Western Connecticut, as also in Northern New Jersey, and from these regions northward into Canada the hemlock is an abundant forest tree. Further west it grows plentifully along the whole Appalachian mountain system as far South as Alabama, and its extreme western range is found in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

"The hemlock spruce is mainly an inhabitant of regions of lower average temperature than that of the Bronx and its occurrence at our latitude is doubtless governed by local conditions. It is much more abundant and reaches greater dimensions to the north of us and in the mountains. It does not, however, extend northward into the sub-arctic regions and to the tops of high mountains as the firs and true spruces do, but has its northern limit in Nova Scotia and Ontario and does not ascend the Adirondacks much above 2,000 feet."

Extending Tremont Avenue.

The city has decided to bear 24 per cent. of the cost of widening or opening Tremont avenue between Aqueduct and Sedgwick avenues. A change was made in the lines of Tremont avenue between these limits on July 8, 1903. The street has a width of 80 feet, except at its intersections with Aqueduct avenue, Andrews avenue and Sedgwick avenue, where the width is greatly increased by flaring so as to secure more direct and easier connections. The street will connect with a proposed bridge across the Harlem river, which has its easterly terminal on Sedgwick avenue, between Tremont and Burnside avenues. The length of the street included within the limits of the resolution is 1,196 feet, and the area of the land to be acquired is 112,497.15 square feet, the average width being therefore 94.06 feet. At the present time a lane is in use, which falls within the lines of Tremont avenue, through the portion between Sedgwick avenue and Andrews avenue. This lane has unquestionably been dedicated to public use, having been maintained by the city authorities and used as a highway for over twenty-one years. It has an area of 26,550 square feet, which if distributed along the entire length of the street would be equivalent to an average width of 22.20 feet. Chief Engineer Lewis reported that the proceeding could be properly treated as the widening of a street having a width of 22.2 feet to one having a width of 94.06 feet, and under the rule of the Board of Estimates of July 25, 1902, the city could assume 24 per cent. of the costs.

Portable House.

At 170 Broadway, this city, are the offices of the C. & A. Patented Building Construction Co., which is engaged in erecting portable houses of any size from a $700 house to one costing $50,000. These houses are made at the company's factory in New Jersey, shipped in the "knock-down" and erected wherever desired; and almost without an exception these houses, of which a very large number has been built, have not only given satisfaction but gratification to the owner as well as the builders.

The C. & A. Patented Building Construction Co. digs the cellars, when cellars are desired, constructs the masonry, erects the buildings, puts in the plumbing and completes the house, and this portable house is at once a permanent house, its permanency being determined by the will of the owner.

Said an officer of the company: "Portable houses! Well, why not? Neary every house in New York City is a portable house. All our skyscrapers are portable houses, every bit of the stone work is cut to measure elsewhere; all the iron is finished to scale, and only the erecting is done on the site; and in this connection the C. & A. Patented Building Construction Co. is only following the most illustrious of examples set by the wisest of men, whose great work 'the Temple' was the finest example of a portable house."

Batterson & Eisele's New Offices.

Batterson & Eisele, importers and workers in marble, stone and granite, who for many years were located at 35th street and 11th avenue, this city, and who some time ago built a large and extensive manufacturing plant at Edgewater, N. J., have recently established for the convenience of their many patrons, a suite of offices in rooms No. 1 and 2 on the seventh floor of the Times Building, Broadway and 42d street, this city.

Ready for Figures.

Kirby, Petit & Green, 35 West 31st st, Manhattan, are now ready for figures on steel work for the new 12-sty fireproof hotel, 170x170 ft., which the Clarendon Hotel Co., Clarendon Hotel, Brooklyn, will erect at Schermerhorn and Livingston sts, Brooklyn. No other contracts have been awarded.

—We desire to call special attention to the second of a valuable series of lectures on real estate law by Henry F. Miller, Esq., to be delivered before the West Side Branch of the Y. M. C. A., and for a careful editing of which for our columns we have been able to arrange with the lecturer himself, thus securing much greater accuracy and value than can ordinarily be had in reports of technical lectures of such extreme value. It will be found in another part of this paper.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list witih the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

November 24, 25, 27, 28 and 29.

Bronx Lot Values.

The auction sale on Tuesday under the direction of Mr. Smyth emphasized the remarkable increase in Bronx values in the past decade. Properties brought in some cases fifty per cent. more than the owner would have accepted even five years ago. Four vacant lots in which there was much interest, being at the corner of Clay avenue and Prospect place, were sold as follows: The southeast corner of Clay av and Prospect pl, four lots, each 25x92.6, the corner to Alfred Lewine for $3,675 and the inside lots to George I. Bailey for $2,950 each. The southwest corner of Anthony av and Prospect pl, four lots, each 25x92.6, was bought by George I. Bailey, in one parcel, for $7,975; also the southeast corner of Anthony av and Prospect pl, nine lots, each 25x from 90.6 to 100 and a gore 15x100x irregular, adjoining on the north. The gore and adjoining lot, forming a 40-foot frontage, was sold to S. M. Barber for $3,600; the two lots adjoining on the south sold to M. W. Dittmars for $2,000 each; the next two lots sold to C. F. Muxoll for $1,975 each; the next lot to Alfred Lewine for $1,900; the next two lots, Alfred Lewine for $1,825 and $1,775 respectively, and the next lot to H. Menaken for $1,700.

Mr. Smyth sold for the same estate the plot, 50.2x97.2x50x94.2, in the east side of Anthony av, 100.8 ft north of 174th st, to H. J. Cantrell for $3,350; also two lots, each 17x90.3x irregular, to H. Menaker for $2,200; also the southwest corner of Carter av and Prospect pl, 30.9x137.6x2.3x130.6, together with a gore adjoining on the north, to S. M. Barker for a total of $2,100; also two irregular lots, with frontages respectively of 30 and 27.6 ft, in the west side of Carter av, 197.8 feet north of 174th st, to A. E. Schulthers for $1,625; also Carter av, west side, 30.9 ft south of Prospect pl, nine lots, each 25x from 66 to 130.6; northerly three to Mrs. D. Reutler for $1,050 each; next three to W. A. Cameron, for $1,275 each; next two to George E. Buckbee for $1,000 each; next lot to A. E. Schulthers for $1,000.

Mr. Goodyear's Lectures at Edinburgh.

The series of lectures given at Edinburgh Scotland, by Mr. Goodyear, of Brooklyn, on Architectural Refinements, were exceedingly well received, to judge from articles in the press of Scotland and England. In the London Architect and Contract Reporter of Nov. 17, the following interesting reference will be found:

"The last of the series of lectures was given in Edinburgh by Mr. William Henry Goodyear, of the Brooklyn Institute of Science and Arts. At the outset he showed views of photographs which were taken last week at Lanercost and Hexham. The latter, he said, were especially interesting as being a valuable illustration of the outward divergence of the verticals in the choir and transepts, an instance which appeared to be very satisfactory from the point of view of constructive purposes. The lecturer then dealt with the subject of Notre-Dame, showing the curves in plan in the nave, which were parallel and opposed to the thrust on the north side, and which rose to the parapets of the exterior walls as high as the roof. These curves of the nave appeared to be related to the deflection of the choir of Notre-Dame, which was already known to exist, but they also appeared to force a new explanation of the deflection of the choir. It was impossible to conceive that incompetence of the builders would explain these curves in plan, because the majority of French cathedrals showed absolutely true lines in the nave. He argued that these variations of alignment were intended to give picturesque effects and to annihilate the monotony of the straight line. The latter illustrations covered the bends in elevation of the nave, and the remarkable deflections from the true perpendicular in the facade, the lecturer remarking that the theory of subsidence was untenable.

"Mr. H. C. Tarbolton, the president of the Edinburgh Architectural Asociation, in conveying a vote of thanks to Mr. Goodyear, said they had found the lectures very interesting, highly instructive and specially sugestive. Mr. Goodyear had thrown a new light on Mediaeval architecture, and had given them a glimpse behind the scenes. He was convinced that Mr. Goodyear had proved his points in most cases up to the hilt, and there were many who shared that view. The Edinburgh Architectural Association was indebted to him for the new interests he had kindled for them and for the practical suggestions he had thrown out to them.

"Mr. Goodyear, in reply, remarked that the debt was mutual."

Attractive Bay Ridge.

To the minds of many, some of the more popular sections of Brooklyn for home seekers, including Flatbush, will have a strong rival hereafter in Bay Ridge, if the note of charm which has already attracted so many cottage builders can be maintained. Elements of an elegant community have for a long period of years been gathering about a nucleus of old family mansions set amid groves and lawns and rural scenes, with the harbor shore for a background. The happiest existence, the fathers have often said, is neither altogether in the city nor altogether in the country, but in a combination of city life and country living,—in metropolitan opportunities for a business career united to suburban possibilities for an exclusive and enjoyable home life. When it is possible to add a third element to the combination of city and suburban existence, it is a rare good fortune.

At Bay Ridge there are the three. The shore with its opportunities for water sports, the beautiful Shore Drive and the marine views are the possessions of those who dwell in the pretty cottages on the main residential road and the intersecting streets at Bay Ridge. But the section is not so accessible as it ought to be; the need of better transit facilities is very pressing, and until there is improvement in this direction Bay Ridge will not see a full development. About one hour's time is necessary for the trip from house to office for anyone living near 79th st, though it is conceivable that with as good running as Flatbush commands Bay Ridge might silence her alarm clocks and sleep half an hour longer in the morning. With this shortcoming excepted, and it is something that may in future years be remedied, Bay Ridge is a very fine place to migrate to.

The visitor notices considerable building going on; the greatest public work is the cutting through of a number of lateral streets, intersecting the principal residence avenue; and as this is bordered by terraces, the cutting has done a great deal of physical damage to abutting private property, making ugly gaps in beautiful lawns, and leaving some of the costliest cottages high above the grade, like castles in the air.

—The market for building materials for Cuban account is assuming goodly proportions. In Havana and vicinity the building trades are beginning to be active, and the preponderance of buying inclinations of the Cubans is for American materials. The shipping of sand for the use of masons and plasterers in Cuba from several North Atlantic ports, which some time ago was affected by the organization of Cuban corporations to take sand from the extreme southern part of the island to the cities, is now fairly active again. The Cubans who expected to control the island markets against the American sand, found that the cost of excavating and sripping it from one part of Cuba to the other made the native kinds cost more to the builders than that which is exported from this country. The Cuban sand boats had to go empty one way, whereas the American carriers find cargo going and coming.

THE Stock Market continues to maintain its ordinary steadiness and strength in the face of very adverse conditions. It is controlled by a number of large speculators, who have made considerable profits by operating in specialties, and who are determined to keep prices up over the period of high money. They may succeed in achieving this difficult and dangerous feat; but one cannot help wondering whether their success will not hurt the chance of the bull market, the occurrence of which is so confidently anticipated somewhat later. There can be little doubt that a moderate amount of weakness during the current month would make it easy to effect a much more considerable advance later; but if confidence in the speculative situation is undermined by a continuation of the forcing, which has been underway during the past week, the general advance, which has been so long heralded, may not come at all. It certainly cannot come, unless the public interest in the market becomes larger and better satisfied; and it is difficult to see how such public interest can be provoked. As long as the evidences of persistent and even desperate manipulation are so obvious, it will be difficult to inject any spontaneous strength into a general rise of values. People will be afraid that the rise is being engineered solely for the purpose of enabling speculators to sell out their lines of stocks.

A LARGE number of sales have taken place during the past week between 6th and 7th avs and south of 31st st, and in one instance an offering at auction of 80 feet on 27th st between these avenues brought a very high price compared to the values prevailing not long ago. It will be interesting to see how far this movement is carried, no matter what becomes of 6th and 7th avs. It is evident that the best that can happen to these side streets is to be built up with loft buildings, and those which have been planned hitherto, have with only one exception, never been more than six stories high. But if lots on these side streets are going to be worth as much as $40,000 it will not be long before builders will begin to erect ten and twelve-story loft buildings thereon. Of course, a great deal depends upon the way in which the plans of the railway companies develop; but their own investment in real estate in the neighborhood is becoming so heavy that they will be forced to make improvements which will help very much to improve the character of the entire district.

IT is hard to avoid the conclusion that Mr. Washington Hull has been badly treated in the matter of the plans for the new Brooklyn Borough Hall. The present President of the Borough of Brooklyn undoubtedly had every right to change according to his judgment, the plans, which had been drawn under the directions of its predecessor, because there is no reason why Mr. Littleton should be obliged to stand for a building, which was not in his opinion adequate to the needs of the Brooklyn administrative offices; but in that event the architect of the plans already made certainly has a fair claim for some compensation. The fact that the contract was actually signed only the day before the expiration of Mr. Swanstrom's term of office is irrelevant. As a matter of fact, the contract was practically of much longer duration. Months before certain architects had been invited to submit plans, which were to be judged according to a method laid down in a public advertisement. On the basis of this advertisement a number of architects spent money and time in preparing plans, and those prepared by Mr. Hull were declared by the judges to be superior to the plans submitted by the other competitors. When Mr. Hull received the award, he was fairly entitled to a certain compensation; and even if the Board of Estimate is legally justified in withholding it from him, their failure to admit the obligation will strike an outsider as a very shabby piece of business or politics. It is no wonder that architects detest competitions for public buildings, and that some of the best of them have decided never to submit plans under such conditions. Fron one cause or another they rarely receive fair treatment. In the present instance Brooklyn will undoubtedly obtain a much better and handsomer building under the new arrangement than under the old; but in obtaining it an unnecessary and a very petty bit of injustice will have been perpetrated.
